Undefeated Nebraska Goes For 8th Straight Against Jayhawks

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska's gridders have been proving to one foe after another how good they are and they are facing at least one member of the Kansas team at 2 p.m. Saturday at Memorial Stadium who is anxious to find out for himself.

"They are as good as the Notre Dame team that we played last year," Air Force coach Ben Martin said.

"They deserve to be No. 1," Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn observed.

"They're even better than I thought," Missouri coach Dan Devine remarked after last week's 16-14 loss to the Huskers.

Not Over-rated

"They aren't over-rated," noted Missouri halfback Charlie Brown. "They're real good."

But Kansas halfback Dan Miller, a native of Omaha, isn't convinced. "I get tired of going home and hearing how great Nebraska is," he said, referring to Saturday afternoon's clash between the unbeaten Huskers (7-0) and the Jayhawks with a 2-5 mark.

Despite the ravings of vanquished foes, however, the Huskers have fallen from a No. 1 national ranking in pre-season polls to rank third with Associated Press, tied for second in United Press International's poll of coaches, and second in Sports Illustrated's Midwest rankings

Nebraska, Arkansas and Michigan State have collected all but one or two of the first place votes every week in the major polls and the Huskers outrank the other two in all but one of the national statistical categories

The Huskers are first in rushing offense with a 268.6 per game average with Arkansas sixth at 235.1 and the Spartans seventh at 234.6.

Nebraska trails only Tulsa in total offense. NU has gained 403.1 yards per game for second place while Michigan State is seventh with 355.9 and Arkansas ninth at 353.7.

None of the three is among the top 10 in passing and Nebraska ranks third in scoring with 33.9, just ahead of Arkansas with 32.4.

Defensively, the Huskers are seventh in total defense with Michigan State ninth. The Spartans and Razorbacks both rate ahead of NU in rushing defense with Michigan State first, Arkansas fourth and the Huskers not in the top 10.

The pass defense charts don't contain any of the three in the top 10.

Nebraska will have the full services of left halfback Ron Kirkland and defensive right end Langston Coleman for the first time in four games, but two others will see only limited action. Linebacker Lynn Senkbeil and safety-place kicker Larry Wachholtz are both slowed by foot injuries.

Coaches Capsule

Nebraska's Bob Devaney—"We feel we are facing a team that has found itself and is playing fine football at present. A study of films and scouting reports shows that their execution has improved by 75% in the last two games. We feel they have regained their spirit which will make them a real tough opponent."

Kansas' Jack Mitchell—"It is a privilege to have a team in our conference with the caliber of Nebraska. We are looking forward to the opportunity of playing them. Nebraska is a compliment to our conference."

Kansas may have found itself after losing five straight to open the season before coming back to post shutouts over Oklahoma State, 9-0, and Kansas State, 34-0.

Prior to that the Jayhawks' defense gave up 26 to Texas Tech, 23 to Arizona, 17 to California, 21 to Iowa State and Oklahoma. Kansas has been shut out only by California and the Jayhawks have not been blanked by Nebraska since 1953 when Bill Glassford's team scored a 9-0 victory.

Kansas will be playing without No. 1 quarterback Bob Skahan, who has seen only a few minutes of action all year, and halfback Mike Johnson, who gave the Huskers more trouble than Gale Sayers did a year ago at Lawrence.

Bill Fenton, a 150-pounder, is handling the signal calling chores and Miller is filling in for Johnson.

Big Up Front

The Huskers haven't lost to Kansas since Bob Devaney came to Lincoln and Devaney has never lost to KU coach Jack Mitchell either at Nebraska or Wyoming. They played a 6-6 tie, however, when Devaney was at Wyoming.

Traffic Changes Set For Today

Parking restrictions and several traffic control changes have been announced by City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger for Saturday's game against Kansas University.

Parking will be prohibited on the west side of 14th from Court to Avery.

Police will enforce the no parking on S service lane between 9th and 10th.

No parking will be allowed on city property grass areas around the Interstate and campus.

Posted signs will require all traffic entering 14th between Avery and Military to turn north.

Incoming Interstate traffic can utilize four cut-offs to get into Lincoln: Waverly, U.S. 77, Interstate 180, and West Lincoln.

Out-going traffic after the game can use Interstate 180, Cornhusker Highway, and the West Lincoln interchange.

'FORCE LINK IS MUST'

. . . In Europe

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, clashing with French President Charles de Gaulle, declared Friday that integration of U.S. and allied forces in Europe is an operational necessity to avoid "complete confusion at a moment of crisis."

"We have a very substantial force in the heart of Europe — if my friends in Europe would forgive me — surrounded in a sea of foreigners," Rusk said. "Integration is imposed upon us by the de facto situation.

Clarity Needed

"Our responsibility for the effectiveness and the security and the future of those forces in Europe is such that we need to know who is going to do what, when and where, if there is trouble."

His strong defense of the allied integration system at a news conference immediately raised a question whether—if De Gaulle succeeded in breaking down the system—the United States would pull its forces out of Europe.

When this question was put to Rusk, he declined a direct answer.

De Gaulle, who announced Thursday that he would run for a second seven-year term as president of France, declared at a September news conference his determination to seek an end to the integration of NATO forces by 1969, at least so far as France is concerned.

Struggle Joined

A showdown of this issue probably will begin to develop next year with French proposals for reorganization of NATO. In effect De Gaulle's press conference in September and Rusk's response Friday marked the joining of the struggle.

The United States, in fact, is seeking greater integration of forces in NATO through the formation of a nuclear weapons force in which Germany and any other interested allies would become a partner in nuclear strategy and operations alongside this country, Britain — and France, if France were willing.

Rusk said the need for a NATO nuclear force arises from the fact that the Soviet Union has hundreds of missiles targeted on Western Europe, including West Germany. He declared it was because of this fact that the West German government is interested in the nuclear defenses of NATO, in nuclear policy, and in nuclear arrangements.

"Therefore," he said, "we are trying to work out a nuclear arrangement in NATO which meets these elementary needs."

Intelligence reports are said to put the number of Soviet nuclear missiles set up in western Russia at 700 to 750.

Molotov Advising Kosygin

. . . Envoys Say

London (AP)—East European diplomats reported Friday that Vyacheslav M. Molotov has been rehabilitated after eight years in the political doghouse and is now working behind the scenes as Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's personal adviser on foreign affairs.

These Communist informants stressed that the former premier and foreign minister, 75, who was Joseph Stalin's righthand man, has no official post. But they said he is being consulted by Kosygin not only on foreign policy but on some economic matters as well.

They said Molotov had an important role in preparing the new economic program which Kosygin outlined to the Soviet Communist Party's central committee Sept. 27.

The informants noted that one of Molotov's final acts before Nikita Khrushcev had him expelled from the central committee July 3, 1957, for alleged antiparty acts was a speech in which he said any communist country which adopted a policy independent of that of the Soviet Union "endangers its own existence."

Reports received here from Moscow recently said Molotov was called before the party presidium in September and told of the decision to abolish regional planning commissions gradually.

It was over the question of decentralization of agriculture that Molotov broke with Khrushchev in 1956 and 1957. The new program announced by Kosygin in September reversed some of Khrushchev's economic policies.

Molotov, when ousted, was sent as ambassador to Mongolia, virtually an exile post. Three years later he was named Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna, a tremendous fall for an intimate of Lenin and Stalin.

Khrushchev's final blow against Molotov came with the April 3 announcement last year of his expulsion from the Communist Party. But little more than six months later Khrushchev himself was out.

FBI Man Says Weapon Pressed Against Victims

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

An FBI agent testified Friday that bullets which killed three Big Springs bank employes and wounded a fourth were fired from a gun pressed tightly against their bodies.

Warren G. Johnson, an examiner for the bureau's firearms identification section, was the 32nd witness called by the prosecution in the trial of Duane Earl Pope, in an effort to prove that the bloody June 4 robbery was carried out deliberately and with premeditation on the part of the accused Kansas youth.

Agent Johnson told the Federal District Court jury that he has test-fired the murder weapon and examined clothing worn by the victims. He said the examination showed that the muzzle of the weapon was held in tight contact with the garments because the edges of the bullet holes were singed by the discharge of hot gases.

Johnson confirmed that bullets taken from or found near the bodies were fired from the .22-calibre Ruger with silencer attached. Pope has admitted purchasing the gun May 27 and parts for the silencer May 15.

No Other Weapon

Globules of welding material in the silencer carved grooves in the bullets, proving that they came from the gun and silencer in question, "to the exclusion of all other weapons," he said.

Judge Robert Van Pelt ordered stricken from the record Johnson's comments that the silencer was "very effective, as effective as those commercially made."

Defense attorney Robert Crosby had objected to the testimony on the grounds that Johnson is not qualified to judge the effectiveness of silencing devices.

The agent said that the only noise that could be heard from firing the gun was the rapid-fire backward and foreward movement of the gun's bolt.

Repeated Objections

The defense continued to raise repeated objections to the prosecution's line of testimony, calling it "repetitious and unduly accumulative."

Crosby and assistant defense attorney Wallace Rudolph maintain that the step - by - step government questioning of witnesses concerning all aspects of the crime is unnecessary because Pope, in a judicial admission filed with the court, has confessed to the robbery and killings and other events.

They insist the only issue is mental competence and are staking their entire case on the contention that their client was insane at the time of the crime for which he is charged.

Crosby particularly objected to part of the testimony of Dr. W.O. Brown, the Scottsbluff pathologist who performed postmortems on the victims, terming it "unnecessarily gruesome and prejudicial."

Richling Cautioned

At this point during morning testimony-taking, Judge Van Pelt overruled Crosby's objection but cautioned chief prosecutor Theodore Richling " not to lead the witness."

Dr. Brown had told jurors that the deaths of bank president Andreas Kjeldgaard and cashier Glen Hendrickson were caused by "massive internal hemorrhages" resulting from bullet wounds.

Mrs. Lois Ann Hothan, bank bookkeeper, died from asphyxiation caused by blood filling her lungs. "She drowned in her own blood," Dr. Brown said.

Other government witnesses called Friday testified to seeing Pope in Salina, Kan., before and after the Big Springs event.

Cab driver Earl Bryant said he took Pope to a motel west of Salina after Pope had returned "a very dirty car" to a car rental agency.

Friday's testimony brought to an end the first week of the trial, which is expected to last another two weeks or more. The trial will be resumed at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Use Of Base For Job Corps OKd By Chamber Board

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Use of part of the Lincoln Air Force Base as an urban Job Corps facility for men received formal approval Friday from the Chamber of Commerce board of directors in a 13-5 vote.

The motion recommended that the Lincoln Opportunity Team support the Job Corps application made by the University of Nebraska and Northern Natural Gas to use part of the base not needed for aviation activities.

The Lincoln Opportunity Team is expected to hear the Job Corps proposal at a meeting Monday morning and make a recommendation to all community organizations, including the City Council and Airport Authority, according to Councilman John Mason.

Whether the council will take action on a recommendation at its meeting Monday has not been determined, Mason added.

The chamber vote followed a 6-13 defeat of a motion made by board member John Campbell not to accept the Job Corps recommendation or assist NU and Northern Natural Gas in the venture.

Discussion of the motions was not permitted on the record, and reporters were not permitted to directly quote speakers in the rest of the meeting.

Chamber President Tom Pansing led the presentation to the board of directors and members of the Lincoln Industrial Development Corporation and told them it is likely that the mayor's advisory committee will recommend the Job Corps proposal.

However, he said that the committee first wanted to hear opinions from the two groups because the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) has emphasized that it will not set up a center unless community attitude is favorable.

No Other Customer

The most important reason that the Mayor's Advisory Committee favors Job Corps use, Pansing said, is that the city has no other customer to take over that part of the Air Force Base. It is a perfectly valid short-term use, he said.

The greatest potential use for the base in the future, Pansing explained, is in connection with the University. NU itself does not have an immediate need for the base except for the housing, he said, but it could be worked into planning.

Pansing noted that the Department of Defense keeps reiterating that the better the educational use which can be found for the base, the more support the plan will get from the federal government.

Another reason the committee favored the proposal, Pansing pointed out, is the possibility of building a good labor force in Lincoln. The city is short of labor on all levels, he declared.

The problem of the base lease being returned to the city if a federal center were established could not be answered at the present time, Pansing reported. But he added that the Opportunity Team only would recommend the Job Corps proposal subject to a satisfactory dollar arrangement.

For Support

Any proposals have included the intent of using that part of the base to support the aviation activity on the other half.

Oppnents of the Job Corps idea offered no alternative, but they pointed out that any proposal would eliminate any possibilities that the base could ever be re-activated by some military installation.

Campbell, who announced he was very much opposed to the Job Corps even as a last resort, said he felt the center would inhibit industry, taking available facilities.

Lincoln, he said, is not a city which can absorb this type of population. The town does not have the kind of recreation attractive to Job Corps people, Campbell said.

Recommending that the OEO center operate in Lincoln will tear the city apart in a public fight, he said.

The urban Job Corps for men is ultimately planned to operate with 2,000 boys between the ages of 16 and 21 and nearly 1,000 staff personnel working there. The proposed plan calls for one live-in counselor for each 15 boys.

Undefeated Nebraska Goes For 8th Straight Against Jayhawks

Nebraska's gridders have been proving to one foe after another how good they are and they are facing at least one member of the Kansas team at 2 p.m. Saturday at Memorial Stadium who is anxious to find out for himself.

"They are as good as the Notre Dame team that we played last year," Air Force coach Ben Martin said.

"They deserve to be No. 1," Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn observed.

"They're even better than I thought," Missouri coach Dan Devine remarked after last week's 16-14 loss to the Huskers.

Not Over-rated

"They aren't over-rated," noted Missouri halfback Charlie Brown. "They're real good."

But Kansas halfback Dan Miller, a native of Omaha, isn't convinced. "I get tired of going home and hearing how great Nebraska is," he said, referring to Saturday afternoon's clash between the unbeaten Huskers (7-0) and the Jayhawks with a 2-5 mark.

Despite the ravings of vanquished foes, however, the Huskers have fallen from a No. 1 national ranking in preseason polls to rank third with Associated Press, tied for second in United Press International's poll of coaches, and second in Sports Illustrated's Midwest rankings

Defensively, the Huskers are seventh in total defense with Michigan State ninth. The Spartans and Razorbacks both rate ahead of NU in rushing defense with Michigan State first, Arkansas fourth and the Huskers not in the top 10.

Use Of Base For Job Corps OKd By Chamber Board

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Use of part of the Lincoln Air Force Base as an urban Job Corps facility for men received formal approval Friday from the Chamber of Commerce board of directors in a 13-5 vote.

The motion recommended that the Lincoln Opportunity Team support the Job Corps application made by the University of Nebraska and Northern Natural Gas to use part of the base not needed for aviation activities.

The Lincoln Opportunity Team is expected to hear the Job Corps proposal at a meeting Monday morning and make a recommendation to all community organizations, including the City Council and Airport Authority, according to Councilman John Mason.

Whether the council will take action on a recommendation at its meeting Monday has not been determined, Mason added.

The chamber vote followed a 6-13 defeat of a motion made by board member John Campbell not to accept the Job Corps recommendation or assist NU and Northern Natural Gas in the venture.

Discussion of the motions was not permitted on the record, and reporters were not permitted to directly quote speakers in the rest of the meeting.

Chamber President Tom Pansing led the presentation to the board of directors and members of the Lincoln Industrial Development Corporation and told them it is likely that the mayor's advisory committee will recommend the Job Corps proposal.

However, he said that the committee first wanted to hear opinions from the two groups because the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) has emphasized that it will not set up a center unless community attitude is favorable.

No Other Customer

The most important reason that the Mayor's Advisory Committee favors Job Corps use, Pansing said, is that the city has no other customer to take over that part of the Air Force Base. It is a perfectly valid short-term use, he said.

The greatest potential use for the base in the future, Pansing explained, is in connection with the University. NU itself does not have an immediate need for the base except for the housing, he said, but it could be worked into planning.

Pansing noted that the Department of Defense keeps reiterating that the better the educational use which can be found for the base, the more support the plan will get from the federal government.

Another reason the committee favored the proposal, Pansing pointed out, is the possibility of building a good labor force in Lincoln. The city is short of labor on all levels, he declared.

The problem of the base lease being returned to the city if a federal center were established could not be answered at the present time, Pansing reported. But he added that the Opportunity Team only would recommend the Job Corps proposal subject to a satisfactory dollar arrangement.

For Support

Any proposals have included the intent of using that part of the base to support the aviation activity on the other half.

Oppnents of the Job Corps idea offered no alternative, but they pointed out that any proposal would eliminate any possibilities that the base could ever be re-activated by some military installation.

Campbell, who announced he was very much opposed to the Job Corps even as a last resort, said he felt the center would inhibit industry, taking available facilities.

Lincoln, he said, is not a city which can absorb this type of population. The town does not have the kind of recreation attractive to Job Corps people, Campbell said.

Recommending that the OEO center operate in Lincoln will tear the city apart in a public fight, he said.

The urban Job Corps for men is ultimately planned to operate with 2,000 boys between the ages of 16 and 21 and nearly 1,000 staff personnel working there. The proposed plan calls for one live-in counselor for each 15 boys.

'TIGER LADY' KILLED

. . . In Spat With Husband Over Another Woman

Saigon UPI — Maj Nguyen Van Dan, one of the Vietnamese army's most decorated soldiers, has been arrested and jailed in connection with the death of his wife, the pistol-packing "Tiger Lady" of South Viet Nam, a government spokesman said Saturday.

Madame Ho Thi Que, who fought by her husband's side when he commanded the 44th Ranger Battalion, was shot Friday night in Can Tho, a Mekong River Delta town about 75 miles Southwest of Saigon.

Informed sources said that she became enraged with her husband for paying too much attention to another woman and pulled out a pistol.

Watches In Horror

A high-ranking Vietnamese army official said earlier that the other woman look on in horror when Dan struggled with his wife for the pistol. The pistol went off and fatally wounded Mme. Que, 38-year-old mother of six, the official said.

Officially Mme. Que was a noncommissioned officer of the 44th Vietnamese Rangers, nicknamed the "Black Tiger" battalion, from which her husband was recently relieved of command.

Unofficially she was its "big sister" and marched beside her husband.

She fought alongside his troops packing a pair of .45 caliber automatics around her hips and wearing a polished steel helmet emblazoned with the tiger of her nickname. She became a symbol of courage in the army and one of Viet Nam's most colorful women.

Transferred

Her husband was transferred to the post of security officer in another area after an investigation into a battle in which the Black Tigers became trapped between two Viet Cong battalions and lost 58 dead. Dan was not on the operation.

The Tiger Lady shaved her head and went into mourning after the defeat. She held many decorations for bravery and saw more fighting, death and suffering than many who consider themselves vetearns of the Viet Nam war. She could fight with her bare hands, using the ancient art of karate, as well as with guns.

She hated the Viet Cong but she also hated to see her own soldiers looting a peasant hut. She had been known to leap on the backs of shirkers to goad them into action.

Defusing Living Bomb Easy, Says Tense Doc

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — Two U. S. Air Force surgeons manipulating steel claws from behind sandbags, cut a Viet Cong grenade from the back of a Vietnamese farmer and lifted it away safely in four tense minutes Friday.

"Now we can say it was easy," said the chief surgeon, Maj. Gen. James W. Humphreys Jr. of Richmond, Va., dabbing a handkerchief on sweat that beaded his forehead.

The frail, wispy - bearded patient, Nguyen Van Chinh, 52, sat up and smiled again after five days as a living explosive, fasting and praying in quarantine in a shed behind a Saigon hospital.

Six-foot-long tools specially designed for the job were used to handle the scalpel and pluck out the grenade, one of a 40mm type notoriously unstable, that lodged beneath Chinh's 12th rib.

These instruments impressed viewers variously as like a billiard cue, a giant fountain pen or "those mechanical monsters clawing around atomic piles."

The creator was Capt. Jack Faircloth of New York, Humphreys' aide. The general had given him 48 hours to come up with something that would work.

The team was made up of Humphreys, a chest specialist; Col. Daniel Campbell of Inlet Beach, Fla., another chest surgeon; and Dr Tony Brown, a British anesthetist attached to the U.S. aid mission.

They volunteered after Vietnamese doctors threw up their hands at Chinh's plight.

Rhodesia Put In State Of Emergency

Salisbury, Rhodesia (AP) — The government decreed a state of emergency Friday controlling the movement of persons throughout Rhodesia, saying it was necessary to head off a possible wave of African sabotage.

Caught by surprise, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson met with his top advisers in London as speculation spread that the white government of Rhodesia was about to take the fateful step of declaring independence for this British colony.

Prime Minister Ian Smith denied this, however.

To the north in Zambia, however, people rushed to buy up food and gasoline just in case.

Police headquarters here announced that pamphlets threatening the establishment of an African nationalist government in Rhodesia were found Wednesday in the Bulawayo African reservation of Zilikazi.

The pamplets read: "If Britain does not stop its minority negotiations with Smith by Nov. 16, 1965, the Zimbabwe African Peoples Union will form a government in Zimbabwe." The union has been banned and its leaders restricted.

Zimbabwe, taken from mysterious ruins in southern Rhodesia thought to be about 1,000 years old, is the African nationalist name for Rhodesia.

Justice Minister Desmond Lardner-Burke ordered the state of emergency for three months, under which the government can control weapons, public gatherings, public statements and the movement of persons.

Lardner - Burke declared trained African saboteurs were at large in Rhodesia and poised in countries to the north. This was apparent reference to Zambia.

Assembly Urges British Use Force

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly, over British objections, voted overwhelmingly Friday to demand that Britain use military force if necessary to assure complete political freedom in Rhodesia.

By 82-9, with 18 abstentions, it approved its second resolution in three weeks aimed at blocking seizure of independence by the white minority government.

African, Asian and Communist countries were solidly behind the resolution which was approved by a slightly smaller margin of 79-8, with 17 abstentions, in the assembly's trusteeship committee Monday.

TENNESSEE FEDERAL COURT HEARS COUNSEL . . .

'Law Violates Nudists' Civil Rights'

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP) — Embattled nudists of Tennessee argued Friday that a state law requiring them to keep their pants on is a violation of their civil rights.

Nudist position was set forth in an action before a three-judge federal court asking that the law be declared unconstitutional.

"Nudism is not my cup of tea, and I suspect it is not the cup of tea of this honorable court," said Bernard Bernstein, counsel for the petitioning American Sunbathing Association, Inc., and the Tennessee Outdoor Club, Inc.

"But it is the belief of some people. And we say this statute trespasses on their civil rights."

The law resulted from an unplanned piece of helicopter-peeping by a pilot-politician named Gaines Morton.

Over Woods

Morton, a state legislator, was cruising over a wooded area north of Knoxville in his chopper in the summer of 1964 when to his horror he spotted specimens of the two sexes frolicking about without a stitch on them.

Morton hastily introduced a bill outlawing nudist colonies and the practice of nudism. It became law last March.

Berstein said the act not only was unconstitutional but vague, indefinite and unenforceable.

Tom Fox

Asst. State Atty. Gen. Tom Fox conceded that the statute wasn't as specific as it might have been, but asserted:

"The right to go without clothing in the presence of the opposite sex is not guaranteed by the Constitution.

"It is all right for people to associate and talk about nudism, but when you have disrobing in mixed sexes you get into the area of lewdness and indecency."

The three-judge panel took the case under advisement, giving Bernstein and Fox 10 days to file briefs in support of their opposing views.

Boi Loi Wood Swept; Yields Some Secrets

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—The Boi Loi Forest, a Viet Cong stamping ground bombed three times this week by U.S. B52 jets from Guam, yielded some of its secrets to Vietnamese patrols Friday.

Government troops probing the forest, 30 miles northwest of Saigon, killed one Viet Cong and freed 10 Vietnamese soldiers from a guerrilla prison camp.

They said they found a workshop containing a generator and a store of mines, grenades, ammunition and uniforms. Light contact was reported during the sweep.

5 Hanoi Regiments

U.S. military authorities said captured documents and the interrogation of prisoners and defectors show that five regiments of Communist North Viet Nam's regular army — perhaps 7,500 men— are now operating in South Viet Nam. That is a rise from a tentative estimate of three regiments in mid-July.

About 2,000 U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops pressed through the third day of "Operation Black Ferret" with little to show for their efforts.

Striving to clear Viet Cong from the area around Chu Lai, they have killed two and seized some guerrilla equipment, uniforms and documents.

Gunners of the U.S. 7th Fleet shelled Viet Cong holdings near the South China Sea Coast. Aerial spotters said there was extensive damage to entrenchments and buildings.

10 Governors Arrive

Ten U.S. governors arrived for a four-day tour of South Viet Nam following visits to Japan and Hong Kong. They are headed by Gov. John Reed of Maine, chairman of the executive committee of the National Governors' Conference.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan, a Republican, said he has the impression the United States has taken the initiative in the war.

But he added that, "based on what I've heard in Asia, I'm inclined to think that the impression at home is somewhat more favorable and optimistic than the facts will justify."

Rusk Defends Antiwar Demonstrators' Rights

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk Friday reported good progress on the Viet Nam war front, predicted some severe fighting ahead — and vigorously defended the rights of antiwar demonstrators at home.

While making it plain at a news conference that he disagrees with critics of the administration's Viet Nam policy, Rusk said that in "a vigorous and thriving democracy such as ours we must have debate and an opportunity for dissent . . ."

"I think it would be wrong for the government to try to restrict those opportunities in anyway," he said. "I certainly feel very strongly that government should not interfere with the normal processes of democratic discussion in our system."

Rusk coupled with this a suggestion to the demonstrators that they may be defeating their own avowed aim of bringing peace to Viet Nam.

Aggressers in the past have increased their appetites through miscalculating the amount of dissent within the United States, he said, and therefore Americans who criticize should remember their "voices travel beyond our borders" and sometimes have effects which are not intended."

As for the Southeast Asian conflict itself, Rusk said again he found no evidence yet that the Reds want a peaceful settlement. He noted North Viet Nam has sent more troops south, the Viet Cong guerrillas are continuing recruiting, and Hanoi has indicated an end to U.S. bombing of the north would not lead to negotiations.

Big-Power Unanimity Broken Over India-Pakistan Issue

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)— The U.N. Security Council approved a strong new resolution on the India-Pakistan crisis Friday, but a Soviet abstention broke the big-power unanimity that had prevailed on the issue.

The resolution insisted that violations of the Sept. 22 cease-fire stop.

It demanded also that India and Pakistan meet with a U.N. representative to agree on a deadline for withdrawal of their armed personnel to Aug. 5 pre-crisis line.

The council adopted it 9-0 with two abstentions, Jordan and the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union said it abstained because the resolution failed to heed a Soviet demand for a three - month time limit on keeping U. N. cease-fire observers in India and Pakistan. It also criticized the role of Secretary-General U Thant in the crisis. But it did not cast a veto which would have killed the resolution.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko blamed "the United States and others" and U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg blamed the Soviet Union for the lack of unity.

Counters Give Stokes Chance

Cleveland (AP) — Board of election members told Carl B. Stokes Friday they will issue no certificate of election to Mayor Ralph S. Locher until Stokes has a chance for a recount.

Stokes, a Negro state representative, was 2,458 votes short of upsetting Locher in Tuesday's election.

Board members said the official count may be finished by Monday.

RFK Not Against Giving Blood To North Vietnamese

Los Angeles (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said Friday that in principle he believed furnishing blood to North Viet Nam would be in "the oldest tradition of this country."

But, Kennedy added, he believed it could be done only through an international agency.

Asked at a news conference if he disapproved of a student group's plans to send blood to North Viet Nam, he replied: "I'm willing to give blood to anybody who needs it."

The senator said he thought that opposition to this country's role in Viet Nam had gone too far in some areas.

Students' Blood Is Not Going To South Viet Nam

Chicago (UPI)—The American Red Cross said blood collected on college campuses was not being flown to Viet Nam for use by Army troops.

A spokesman said there is no urgent need for blood in Viet Nam because the Defense Department is collecting it from soldiers in Saigon and in Japan.

"Any blood obtained from organized student groups will likely be used for normal domestic needs of the Department of Defense, in Stateside military hospitals," the Red Cross said.

LBJ Plans To Fill New Cabinet Post In January

Johnson City, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson will leave a new Cabinet post vacant until January. That's some two months after the Department of Housing and Urban Development comes into existence just after midnight next Monday.

During the gap, the Texas White House said Friday, the Housing and Home Finance Agency under Robert C. Weaver, a 57-year-old Negro, will start operating automatically in the headless new department, under the same leadership, with the same personnel.

Weaver thus will have a key interim role in the new department—most of the agencies that go into it are in his domain now—and he is on the list of possibilities for secretary.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers announced this on a day in which:

—Johnson kept silent on a price boost by the nation's biggest aluminum producer, Aluminum Co. of America. Moyers said the administration has been talking with representatives of the industry since January on disposing of excess aluminum in the government's stockpiles and any sales will be made with a view to prevent a depressing effect on the market.

—The immediate sale of 200 million pounds of excess nickel valued at $148 million from the government stockpile, along with 200,000 tons of zinc worth $60 million, was made possible under a bill signed by Johnson.

—The President decided to take a helicopter to San Marcos, Tex., 35 miles from the LBJ ranch, Monday to sign the $2.6-billion higher education bill on the campus of Southwest Texas State College. That was where Johnson was graduated in 1930 with a B.S. degree.

—Johnson signed into law a bill that will allow the sale or loan of 11 U.S. warships to six friendly foreign countires: two destroyers each to Argentina and Turkey, three destroyers to Brazil, two non-nuclear submarines to Italy, one helicopter-carrier to Spain and a destroyer-escort to the Philippines.

They said they found a workshop containing a generator and a store of mines, grenades, ammunition and uniforms. Light contact was reported during the sweep.

5 Hanoi Regiments

U.S. military authorities said captured documents and the interrogation of prisoners and defectors show that five regiments of Communist North Viet Nam's regular army — perhaps 7,500 men—are now operating in South Viet Nam. That is a rise from a tentative estimate of three regiments in mid-July.

About 2,000 U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops pressed through the third day of "Operation Black Ferret" with little to show for their efforts.

Striving to clear Viet Cong from the area around Chu Lai, they have killed two and seized some guerrilla equipment, uniforms and documents.

Gunners of the U.S. 7th Fleet shelled Viet Cong holdings near the South China Sea Coast. Aerial spotters said there was extensive damage to entrenchments and buildings.

10 Governors Arrive

Ten U.S. governors arrived for a four-day tour of South Viet Nam following visits to Japan and Hong Kong. They are headed by Gov. John Reed of Maine, chairman of the executive committee of the National Governors' Conference.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan, a Republican, said he has the impression the United States has taken the initiative in the war.

But he added that, "based on what I've heard in Asia, I'm inclined to think that the impression at home is somewhat more favorable and optimistic than the facts will justify."

Big-Power Unanimity Broken Over India-Pakistan Issue

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)— The U.N. Security Council approved a strong new resolution on the India-Pakistan crisis Friday, but a Soviet abstention broke the big-power unanimity that had prevailed on the issue.

The resolution insisted that violations of the Sept. 22 cease-fire stop.

It demanded also that India and Pakistan meet with a U.N. representative to agree on a deadline for withdrawal of their armed personnel to Aug. 5 pre-crisis line.

The council adopted it 9-0 with two abstentions, Jordan and the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union said it abstained because the resolution failed to heed a Soviet demand for a three - month time limit on keeping U. N. cease-fire observers in India and Pakistan. It also criticized the role of Secretary-General U Thant in the crisis. But it did not cast a veto which would have killed the resolution.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko blamed "the United States and others" and U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg blamed the Soviet Union for the lack of unity.

Counters Give Stokes Chance

Cleveland (AP) — Board of election members told Carl B. Stokes Friday they will issue no certificate of election to Mayor Ralph S. Locher until Stokes has a chance for a recount.

Stokes, a Negro state representative, was 2,458 votes short of upsetting Locher in Tuesday's election.

Board members said the official count may be finished by Monday.

Merger Of AIN, State Chamber Under Study

. . . Sen. Burbach Suggests Special Unicam Session

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Hastings—Progress and its accompanying problems came under the eye of approximately 125 business leaders at the joint annual meeting Friday of the Associated Industries of Nebraska and State Chamber of Commerce.

Meeting in all-day session, the groups for one thing agreed to work toward consolidation by next year. The merger suggestion won the approval of both boards of directors, and a study committee will work out details.

Among the double conclave's other highlights:

—State Senator Jules W. Burbach of Crofton suggested a special legislative session for a "fresh look" at Nebraska's tax structure.

—Director Pearle F. Finigan urged that the Nebraska Resources Division be divorced from his Department of Agriculture as "a separate department . . . co-equal with all the code departments."

—U.S. Senator Carl T. Curtis assured that the prospects for preserving state right-to-work laws are "very favorable."

Possibly the most significant of the convention. Burbach's proposal took on greater imminence in coming from the chairman of the influential revenue committee. The Crofton legislator stressed that the state's fiscal policy is "so important that it deserves the best attention we can give it."

"A special session would enable our citizens to concentrate on taxes and a sound solution without getting involved in other conflicting issues," the senator reasoned.

Personally championing both general sales and income taxes, Burbach suggested channeling them respectively to local and state treasuries. He questioned, on the other hand, continuation of the personal property levy.

Observing that federal taxes are being reduced, the chairman contrasted this situation with the "revenue crisis" in state and local government.

"It is my belief that state and local governments are not, and should not, be working at cross purposes," he opined "Both are working for the state boss—the taxpayer."

Prestige Factor

Finigan said he sensed the need to elevate the Resources Division to department level, largely for the inherrent prestige that would come.

"This prestige factor is important in the highly competitive market where industry is being bombarded with site information by some 1 900 governmental units," he stated.

Finigan added that as a division Resources has been "relatively unsuccessful" in obtaining adequate appropriations from the legislature. Headed by David Osterhout, the agency is mainly responsible for promoting state industry

Curtis Sees Victory

Curtis, predicting continued victory over right-to-work repeal interests, warned that "the forces of union monopoly and the enemies of individual freedom" will persist in their efforts.

"The basic reason I believe that we will win is that we are right," the Republican senator continued.

Curtis also criticized the administration's pending unemployment compensation bill, labeling it "largely federalized." He predicted that the proposal could boost maximum unemployment benefits to $75 weekly in Nebraska and up to $100 in some states by 1971.

Other speakers included state Senator Jerome Warner of Waverly and attorney Dean Wallace of Northern Natural Gas Company. Heading two panel discussions were Ralph D. Mullin, chamber manager from Sioux Falls, S D , and Osterhout.

Leaders of Lincoln's United Appeal Friday set next Wednesday for the final report luncheon, as reports totaled 93% of the goal.

Friday reports brought the total raised so far to $769,033 of the $826,939 goal.

The women's division, under Mrs A B. Gorman, turned in pledges or cash amounting to $635 reaching 95% of its $14,500 goal. Herb Hopkins' unit firms division reached $20,100, bringing its percentage to 93. The advanced gifts division, headed by John Olsson, turned in cash or pledges totaling $3,561 or 88%. The business and government division led by Warren Jennings reached 95% with pledges or cash amounting to $12,866.

Howard Christensen general of the Public Departments in the business and government division, reported the public department exceeded its goal with a grand total of $98,784 compared to their goal of $97,600.

Also exceeding the goal for this year was the University of Nebraska headed by Dr. Scheffel Pierce, colonel. The goal for the University was $19,000. Total contributions from the University last year were $17,800—this year they have reached over $22,000, a 24% increase over last year's gift and 116% of the goal. The University received response from 90% of all personnel, including retired faculty members.

The University's drive was different from other divisions in that there were 55 captains with no set goal—all worked toward the total University goal. On this basis the response was very favorable on campus regarding the United Appeal, captains noted.

The University has given more per person this year than ever before.

Morrissey Asks LBJ To Cancel Nomination

Johnson City, Tex. (AP) — Francis X. Morrissey of Boston, whose nomination to be a U.S. District Court judge stirred a storm in the Senate, asked President Johnson Friday to withdraw his nomination. Johnson said he would comply.

Morrissey, a long-time friend and political ally of the Kennedy family, told Johnson in a letter received Friday:

"To prevent further anguish to my family and further harassment to you and to those who have supported me so loyally, I respectfully request that my nomination to the federal bench be withdrawn.

"I shall always be grateful for the confidence you showed in nominating me, but, notwithstanding the merits of that nomination, I do not want to be the cause of diverting your time and energies from the important programs of your great administration "

Johnson wired back:

"I have received your letter and will of course respect your desires. But let me say that you have in recent weeks demonstrated real courage and qualities of character I greatly admire and of which your children can always be proud."

Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen, R.-Ill.. who led the fight against Morrissey's confirmation, was told at Dubary, Fla., by newsmen of Morrissey's letter.

Dirksen said, "I think he might have added the withdrawal was the prudent thing to do in the interest of the integrity of the federal judiciary."

Mother Of 4 Shot To Death; Estranged Mate Is Critical

Culbertson (AP) — A 34-year-old Culbertson man was flown to an Omaha hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound Friday following the fatal shooting of his estranged wife, mother of four

Hitchcock County Sheriff Richard League said Kenneth Baumfalk, 34, evidently shot his wife, Elaine, 31, and then turned the gun on himself.

The shooting occurred behind the Hilltop Cafe where Mrs. Baumfalk was a cook. She was leaving work at the time, about 11 p.m. Thursday

Hitchcock County Attorney Jack Hendrix said Mrs. Baumfalk died instantly from the wound inflicted by a .308 caliber rifle bullet and her estranged husband had a severe face wound.

He said the bullet that killed Mrs Baumfalk was fired from a distance of about 50 feet.

Hendrix said that on Thursday Baumfalk was served with a summons notifying him that his wife was suing for divorce, along with a restraining order directing Baumfalk not to molest his wife pending a county court hearing Nov. 19

Hendrix said he also had attempted unsuccessfully to have Baumfalk put under a peace bond.

The two had been separated about a week before the shooting but both were living in Culbertson Their children, ranging in age up to 13 years, are Dennis, Keith, Jeanne and Jackie

Baumfalk was reported in critical condition at Methodist Hospital in Omaha.

Hendrix said there "was no one else except the husband and wife involved" in the shooting. He said the investigation is continuing and no further details will be made public for the present.

FUND DRIVE NEARING GOAL

Leaders of Lincoln's United Appeal Friday set next Wednesday for the final report luncheon, as reports totaled 93% of the goal.

Friday reports brought the total raised so far to $769,033 of the $826,939 goal.

The women's division, under Mrs. A. B. Gorman, turned in pledges or cash amounting to $635 reaching 95% of its $14,500 goal. Herb Hopkins' unit firms division reached $20,100, bringing its percentage to 93. The advanced gifts division, headed by John Olsson, turned in cash or pledges totaling $3,561 or 88%. The business and government division led by Warren Jennings reached 95% with pledges or cash amounting to $12,866.

Howard Christensen, general of the Public Departments in the business and government division, reported the public department exceeded its goal with a grand total of $98,784 compared to their goal of $97,600.

Also exceeding the goal for this year was the University of Nebraska headed by Dr. Scheffel Pierce, colonel. The goal for the University was $19,000. Total contributions from the University last year were $17,800—this year they have reached over $22,000, a 24% increase over last year's gift and 116% of the goal. The University received response from 90% of all personnel, including retired faculty members.

The University's drive was different from other divisions in that there were 55 captains with no set goal—all worked toward the total University goal. On this basis the response was very favorable on campus regarding the United Appeal, captains noted.

The University has given more per person this year than ever before.

Morrissey Asks LBJ To Cancel Nomination

Johnson City, Tex. (AP) — Francis X. Morrissey of Boston, whose nomination to be a U.S. District Court judge stirred a storm in the Senate, asked President Johnson Friday to withdraw his nomination. Johnson said he would comply.

Morrissey, a long-time friend and political ally of the Kennedy family, told Johnson in a letter received Friday:

"To prevent further anguish to my family and further harassment to you and to those who have supported me so loyally, I respectfully request that my nomination to the federal bench be withdrawn.

"I shall always be grateful for the confidence you showed in nominating me, but, notwithstanding the merits of that nomination, I do not want to be the cause of diverting your time and energies from the important programs of your great administration."

Johnson wired back:

"I have received your letter and will of course respect your desires. But let me say that you have in recent weeks demonstrated real courage and qualities of character I greatly admire and of which your children can always be proud."

Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen, R.-Ill., who led the fight against Morrissey's confirmation, was told at Dubary, Fla., by newsmen of Morrissey's letter.

Dirksen said, "I think he might have added the withdrawal was the prudent thing to do in the interest of the integrity of the federal judiciary."

Mother Of 4 Shot To Death; Estranged Mate Is Critical

Culbertson (AP) — A 34-year-old Culbertson man was flown to an Omaha hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound Friday following the fatal shooting of his estranged wife, mother of four.

Hitchcock County Sheriff Richard League said Kenneth Baumfalk, 34, evidently shot his wife, Elaine, 31, and then turned the gun on himself.

The shooting occurred behind the Hilltop Cafe where Mrs. Baumfalk was a cook. She was leaving work at the time, about 11 p.m. Thursday

Hitchcock County Attorney Jack Hendrix said Mrs. Baumfalk died instantly from the wound inflicted by a .308 caliber rifle bullet and her estranged husband had a severe face wound.

He said the bullet that killed Mrs. Baumfalk was fired from a distance of about 50 feet.

Hendrix said that on Thursday Baumfalk was served with a summons notifying him that his wife was suing for divorce, along with a restraining order directing Baumfalk not to molest his wife pending a county court hearing Nov. 19.

Hendrix said he also had attempted unsuccessfully to have Baumfalk put under a peace bond.

The two had been separated about a week before the shooting but both were living in Culbertson. Their children, ranging in age up to 13 years, are Dennis, Keith, Jeanine and Jackie.

Baumfalk was reported in critical condition at Methodist Hospital in Omaha.

Hendrix said there "was no one else except the husband and wife involved" in the shooting. He said the investigation is continuing and no further details will be made public for the present.

Quest For Security Unending

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It was an intriguing subject under discussion the past two days at the University of Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. The time was devoted to the subject of "Man's Quest For Security" and included among the participants some outstanding thinkers of the nation. The program was sponsored jointly by the university and Woodmen Accident and Life Co. of Lincoln.

The event marked the 75th anniversary of this Lincoln insurance company and proved to be a unique and highly successful means of commemoration. Politically the symposium presented a good cross-section of thought but emphasis was found in the field of philosophy. Even those who do not profess to be philosophers engaged considerably in that tempting field. A most entertaining and rewarding presentation was made by Dr. Sidney Hook, New York University professor of philosophy. In his remarks and those of other participants, one did not find the answer to security, either for the individual or for society.

Philosophical View

This is largely because one probably could not find among any participants a belief that total security would be good or that it is even possible. Rather than finding security, the symposium determined to ascertain the best means of living with insecurity.

This is to consider security, of course, in such broad terms as the satisfaction of all wants, the elimination of all fears and anxieties. It was noted that the realization of total security presents a paradox since such a state of affairs would do away with any purpose in life and, thereby, produce an insecurity all its own.

But if we are never going to know security, we can know something of how to live with its opposite. This we find in large amounts in the remarks made by Dr. Hook. He told a large gathering of business and civic leaders, educators and others:

"In discussing the quest for security, we must always specify the contest within which it is sought. We must not speak of security as if 'total security' were possible or desirable. A considerable degree of insecurity, in some respects, is tolerable, if some security in other respects is assured. In the hierarchy of values, each individual must make his own choice. A man who is secure in his love and friendship may even enjoy the insecurities of battle because he knows that defeat does not mean the black despair of the spirit which follows annihilating failure. On the other hand, a man secure in his sense of achievement or power or in his sense of mission, may be able to live with the uncertainties of the esteem and regard and even affection of his fellows, without troubled concern."

Dr. Hook continued with the later comment that "my primary point here is that in the general run of our lives, the lives of those who do not make a cult of irresponsibility, we fear too much, too soon, and with insufficient discrimination of the reality, proximity and magnitude of the dangers that beset the adventure of living. When we learn to be unafraid, the insecure and uncertain loses its terrors for us. And we can learn to be unafraid through habit and reflections."

Dr. Hook concluded: "If all our wishes came true, then like the child in the fable, we would end up by wishing we no longer had the power to wish. For to be without some of the things we want seems necessary to escape taedium vita, that sickness of life which when it runs deep has no remedy. There is no need then to lament our human estate of insecurities. Intelligence can help us to reduce some of them, and courage can help us bear the rest with serenity."

Those few words from Dr. Hook's message can be classed as happy thoughts. For the family experiencing a shortage of cash, the man finding promotion difficult, the youngster having a tough time with studies, the woman not blessed with beauty and others, no solution is presented.

But what is provided is the means of eliminating such things as a constant source of irritation, friction and unhappiness. The means are found in recognition of the things in life we do have and in the reality of life as a constant struggle for achievement. This leads us not to complacency, not to the abandonment of all effort, not to adoption of any theory of inevitability, but to a more balanced and less disturbing state of mind. We are not forced with such pholosophy to hide our aspirations behind any false sense of well being or security.

Seeking Out Balance

Our determination in life should not be relaxed. We should not join, as Dr. Hook says, any "cult of irresponsibility." But where we fail to find the security we might like, we can come upon the means of living at peace with those unmet needs or desires. It helps just to know that total security is beyond the grasp of all men.

Water, An International Issue

Canada will hold a national election Monday. Both the Liberal and Conservative parties, which are the major ones, are committed to the furtherance of what we in the States would call the Great Society. The issue is really which party can do the more efficient job of liberalizing Canada.

Prime Minister Lester Pearson says his Liberal party needs more seats in parliament, presently possessing only 129 against the combined opposition of 136.

The detailed political picture of the campaign and its points of argument need not be detailed here. But it is especially interesting to the United States that water has become a subject of intense interest. Canada has lots of it and is selling some of it to nearby regions in the United States. It is being argued in Canada that this selling should be curtailed and the saved water used in Canada for greater economic betterment.

Thus we are getting a picture of how important water is becoming both nationally and internationally.

This is difficult to realize in Nebraska which is still wasting water like it was going out of date. We use most of it to flood away our topsoil and still resist major erosion measures. Not a principal river in eastern Nebraska has yet been harnessed. And we are fond of saying that there is enough ground water available to serve any demand. This, of course is not so, for the ground water exists in certain portions of Nebraska, not in all of it. And there is an adequate supply of it because we are slow in developing the resource.

New Quarters In Circulation

The new laminated quarters went into circulation nationally Monday.

When we checked Lincoln banks Friday we found that the first supplies were already in circulation throughout Nebraska.

Nebraska's supply largely comes from the Federal Reserve branch in Omaha. Quotas are shipped to the principal national banks which in turn supply their smaller correspondent national and state banks.

The first demand came from coin collectors. In this phase business was not too brisk in Lincoln. Packages of eight of the new 1965 quarters sold for two dollars, with some takers. The demand was far less than for the Kennedy half dollars. But only one lady was doubtful of them. She bought, examined and then asked to sell them back. All others took them in stride.

Perhaps the uncurious reception was due to the city's shortage of quarters for the past several weeks. Everyone wants quarters, no matter what kind

A Lincoln bank official in charge of distributing the new coins described them as "feeling a little slicker than the old silver quarter, a little less shiny, and easily detectable because the milling around the edge shows a brownish band resulting from the coin's copper core.

What has dropped out of public concern is the reduction of silver content in the new coins. This could have been a great political issue back in 1900 when the free silver people were whooping it up. But there isn't enough silver nowadays to supply the coins for our accelerated economy. The public reaction finds its answer in the fact that the coins will buy the full quarter's worth, and that's about it.

Editorial Of The Day

Women On The March

From The Christian Science Monitor

Although women in the United States have had the right to vote for nearly a half century, many holdovers of discrimination against them remain in the business and factory world. The time appears ripe to tear down such barriers. The current strengthening of civil rights for minority groups shows how out of step they are in this modern age.

But at a recent meeting of the National Council of Women, speakers warned the delegates that the 1964 Civil Rights Act, while giving equal job and pay opportunities to female employees, does not enforce itself automatically. Women themselves will have to see that it is not evaded in promotions, on-the-job executive training, college admission policies.

At the National Council meeting Dr. Pauli Murray of the Yale University law faculty said there might be need for a Women's March on Washington. Marching is a long-standing women's suffrage technique that apparently brought results. It might serve to awaken women themselves to claim their rights under the 1964 act. Despite the reputation that American women have won for aggressiveness, many hesitate from timidity to enter what they regard as a man's field. Others fail to develop their potential, not grasping the opportunities now open to them. They need to go forward.

There is another kind of inequality that the Civil Rights Act fails to reach. These are the feminine poor, employed in occupations such as hotel and restaurant jobs, exempted by the Fair Labor Standards Act and housework which is exempt by most state laws. The National Council of Jewish Women is planning a "woman-to-woman antipoverty campaign" to help these women in many ways.

The encouraging aspect of these efforts is that educated women are directing them. These leaders can be expected not only to help less advantaged women claim their new rights but to convince the industrial, professional and educational world that discrimination is out of date.

Ohio Family One Of Great Power

WASHINGTON — On the desk Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin is an application for a banking merger which illustrates the issue involved in one of the most hotly lobbied battles in the closing days of Congress — namely, bank mergers.

It's an application by the First National Bank of Jackson, Ohio, to merge with the powerful Bancohio Holding Company, which already controls 22 banks and in turn is controlled by the powerful Wolfe family of Columbus. This is one reason why Rep. Wright Patman, the Texarkana trust buster, is battling against the bank merger bill.

In central Ohio, the Wolfe family owns the major newspaper in Columbus, one radio station, one TV station, the Wear-U-Well shoe Corporation, the Ohio Corporation, and controls 22 banks. This concentration of power puts the Wolfe family in a position where it can influence the election of six members of Congress, one-fifth of the Ohio general assembly, and 10 members of the Ohio Senate.

Their banks and investment connections give the Wolfes almost a life and death grip on the economy of central Ohio. They can decide who gets credit and who doesn't, which determines, in turn, what businesses can exist and which can't.

Ironically, Rep. Tom Ashley of Toledo, the Democrat who tried to sneak the bank merger bill past Rep. Patman in the closing days of the last Congress, is vigorously opposed to the Wolfe financial combine in central Ohio. The Wolfes are Republicans. Yet Ashley wants more banking combines for the rest of the country.

Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon has voiced no objection to letting the Wolfe financial empire acquire the First National Bank of Jackson. The Justice Department has filed a brief in opposition. Reason for Justice Department opposition can be understood from an examination of the Wolfe economic setup.

Their newspaper, the Columbus Dispatch, is the largest and most powerful afternoon paper in central Ohio, with a circulation of 300,000. Also owned by the Wolfe family is a weekly, the Columbus Star. The Dispatch prints the combined Columbus Citizen and Ohio State Journal, though disclaims any editorial supervision over them.

The Wolfe family also owns the Ohio Company, which specializes in floating securities for various enterprises. Its assets were listed in 1962 as $14,085,000. Companies whose securities are being handled by the Ohio company are sometimes featured in the news columns of the Columbus dispatch.

The principal bank owned by the Wolfe family is the Ohio National, with deposits in 1963 of $314,406,000—or 46.9 per cent of the total deposits in Franklin county, the county in which Columbus, the state capital, is located.

O'Connor Now Is Top New York Demo

WASHINGTON—New York state Republicans fear there is a Democratic governor in their future as they study the returns which make John Lindsay the next mayor of New York City.

The threat comes from Queens District Attorney Frank O'Connor who outpolled everybody to become president of the City Council and the leading Democratic contender for governor next year. The boost for O'Connor coincides with another low point in Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's standing with the voters.

Rockefeller says he will run for re-election again, which is legitimate strategy for a governor facing another difficult year with a legislature under divided control. Republican leaders have reason to believe he means it, however, and were deeply pessimistic about the outcome even before O'Connor's triumph.

They will exert pressure on Rockefeller to change his mind, but he has control of the state party machinery and is well able to resist it. Their candidate is the senior senator, Jacob K. Javits, another formidable vote-getter and a liberal Jew in the mold of the late revered Herbert Lehman. Javits, now 61, would like to round out his career as governor and is fully qualified for the job.

Rockefeller has disposed of the Lindsay threat to him for 1966, and the decision about yielding to the leaders is his to make. If emotion and not calculation dominates his present thinking, it is easy to understand.

His political career seemed full of promise when he took Gov. Averell Harriman's measure in 1958 in his first bid for elective office. New Yorkers seemed enchanted by the glamour of his name, his folksy ways and radiant smile.

As New York governors inevitably do, he eyed the presidential scene in 1960, only to be coldly crushed by Republican organization leaders determined to nominate Vice-President Richard Nixon.

In 1964 it was apparent that the good fairies who put a golden spoon in Rockefeller's mouth at birth did not also bestow political instinct. But he had won re-election in large part due to Democratic weakness and in 1964 almost singlehandedly fought the good fight to save his party from Goldwater folly. Many men eager to lead the present recovery effort stood aside, hoping to benefit from a convention stalemate.

☆ ☆

Rockefeller's reverses have not all been bad luck. He misjudged the political effect on the circumstances of his bid for personal happiness. He lacks the talents which so long enabled Thomas E. Dewey to divide and conquer in Albany.

"No Flag on Beer Bottles."

That was a slogan adopted by Nebraska's Prohibition Party in its platform of 1907.

The 1932 platform of Nebraska's Socialist Party called for a six-hour day with no reduction in pay.

Medicare for school children was part of the 1914 Socialist Platform.

The 1916 Socialist platform called for taxation of church property on the same basis as other property.

The Prohibition Party demanded a ban on boxing in its 1922 platform.

The 1860 Democratic Party platform asked from Congress appropriations to build a penitentiary, complete the territorial capitol, build various bridges and to provide land for a state university located in Cass County.

The Republican Party platform of 1874 urged legislative reapportionment.

Nebraska's party platforms dating from 1858 to 1940 are published in a volume compiled by the Work Projects Administration 25 years ago.

A random search through the book provides a fascinating look at the state's political history. And it explodes some carefully nurtured myths about Nebraska's staunch self-dependence.

Examination of old Socialist platforms would indicate that much which they championed has been realized.

The 1914 platform asked equal suffrage, abolition of the state senate, public power, consolidation of rural school districts, proportional representation, legalizing of the boycott and peaceful picketing, and an eight-hour day.

Other planks have not been put into effect, such as a request "that all corporations shall be allowed to return their own assessed valuation, the state to retain the right to buy these corporations at their assessed value."

Or state loans at nominal interest.

The Democratic Platform of 1912 had an interesting idea: "We favor a law requiring the governor to make public the names of persons who petition him, either verbally or in writing, to approve or veto any measure."

The Socialist Labor Platform of 1896 wanted federal ownership of railroads, canals, telegraphs, telephones and all means of public transportation and communication.

It also thought it wise that the U.S. Government have the exclusive right to issue money.

The Socialist platform of 1912 called for a graduated income tax, state life insurance, and abolition of the injunction.

The Progressive platform of 1914 favored "a graduated state income tax, discriminating sharply in favor of earned as compared with unearned income."

The 1916 Socialist platform wanted a graduated income tax, exempting incomes up to $2,000.

And the 1932 Socialist document suggested "a high income tax which will become confiscatory upon incomes over $10,000 per year, incomes below $2,500 per year being exempted."

That platform also wanted legislation authorizing the taxation of government securities, socialization of the credit and financial system, and the establishment of a state banking system.

The Democratic Party in 1912 wanted a law passed prohibiting vote-trading in the Legislature.

The 1940 Republican Platform declared: "The Republicans of Nebraska pledge that they will oppose our country entering upon or engaging in any foreign war."

Down the stretch:

—Said Jack Boyd to a gathering of public power leaders on the ninth floor of the Cornhusker Hotel: "A lot of Nebraska's power problems would be eliminated if the top story of this hotel collapsed."

—According to GOP National Committee figures, only 66.6% of Nebraska's potential voters actually cast ballots in the 1964 general election, compared to 71.1% in 1960.

—Every day, in every way, a special legislative session appears more possible.

One-Ways

Lincoln, Neb.

Again you hit the jackpot with your editorial, "Too Much One-Way." I have been interviewing people both in and out of the city of Lincoln, and they all agree wholeheartedly with you, and so do I.

Our very fine engineer should also do some interviewing before he springs something as vital as this because such a plan will only drive people away from Lincoln; not only will it drive shoppers away from the downtown area but also from other places of interest. Other towns have found after a trial that it doesn't work, and it seems as though we could profit by their mistakes.

I remember trying to get to the Prudential Building in Newark, New Jersey, from the airport about 10 years ago when that city had just put in one-ways over the downtown area, and after driving around and around and around, the cabbie finally admitted he just wasn't able to drive me up in front of the building — so I got out and walked 2½ blocks.

I am sure the mayor and City Council will check into this proposal very carefully before they adopt this kind of progress.

Thanks for your help in keeping things in balance here in our city.

Carrying The Ball

Lincoln, Neb.

Such a little while ago, birds on the wing lifted like the spirits of those who started to participate in the Olympic games. The symbolic flight through the air like the flying pages of the press have often given a fleeting glimpse of the dream of world peace. It is my belief that an expansion of the point system used in the Olympic games can bring about peace. Always and ever the athletes compete as individuals but the flag of victory is the flag of the country which the man represents. How can you separate a man from his country?

Instead of having armies meet on the battlefield, let the athletes meet on the gridiron or on the cinder path. Internationally known procedures under a police force controlled by the United Nations would maintain order. We have already had the Pope address the United Nations. The president of the Olympic games should be given the same privilege.

It has been said that if Nurmi was the epitome of running grace, then Zatopek ran like a man with a knife in his heart. In such a program as we suggest a great many athletes would die. "But how can man die better than facing fearful odds for the ashes of his father and the temples of his gods."

Some effort has already been made to present percentage problems involved but the picture has not yet gained a side entrance to the gallery of hopeful thinking. However, there is a saying in baseball, "If at first you don't succeed, try the outfield."

It is still my belief that war is nothing but a game with weapons added. Those who enjoy it from a distance could as easily train field glasses on a regatta.

It is still within the prospect of high hope, a pleasant course, and happy memories that eleven men can be found who would be willing to play football for the United States of America, first with exhibitions and then with competition. We once had a quarterback at the University of Nebraska who never even played football in high school. And you can teach a man to carry a ball as quickly as you can teach him to parry and thrust with a bayonet.

Those heroic diplomats who surround the table at the Geneva conference have carried in briefcases and maps and lexicons loaded with words. All we ask is that one quarterback carry in one football loaded with fresh air.

Lincoln, Neb.

I would like to urge everyone to read the article, "Facts About Fluoridation," in the November issue of The Reader's Digest. I was shocked to find out that water fluoridation was voted down here in Lincoln. Let's correct that now and do whatever we can to start water fluoridation here. In the meantime, all parents should ask their doctors for prescriptions for fluoridated vitamins for their children.

I have noticed several articles in the newspaper recently saying that Nebraskans have an inferiority complex about our state. Well, here is one more reason why —we are behind on so many things.

Last spring we moved back to Nebraska and no matter how glad we are to be "home." I can't help but feel disgusted sometimes. Whenever anyone hears a TV report on anything progressive, California has already done it or rates highest, and Nebraska is eighth from the bottom, or some such position.

Other things that have bothered me about Lincoln are: the city doesn't fog for mosquitoes, with the possible exception of the park areas; the forests of TV antennas that detract so much from the looks of a new neighborhood; the talk of a downtown mall; the mortuary advertisements everywhere; and not being able to enter national contests.

Early Donations

Ingleside, Neb.

Employes at the Hastings State Hospital, Ingleside, Nebraska, are already making plans for Christmas on behalf of some 1,143 patients in their care. As in the past, we must ask the help of various organizations, merchants and individuals if each patient is to receive a gift on Christmas Day, and we would appreciate it if all donations to this cause are mailed early again this year.

We are indebted to the newspapers of Nebraska for their cooperation in helping us to make this need known. Last year the results were most gratifying

Quest For Security Unending

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It was an intriguing subject under discussion the past two days at the University of Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. The time was devoted to the subject of "Man's Quest For Security" and included among the participants some outstanding thinkers of the nation. The program was sponsored jointly by the university and Woodmen Accident and Life Co. of Lincoln.

Philosophical View

The event marked the 75th anniversary of this Lincoln insurance company and proved to be a unique and highly successful means of commemoration. Politically, the symposium presented a good cross-section of thought but emphasis was found in the field of philosophy. Even those who do not profess to be philosophers engaged considerably in that tempting field. A most entertaining and rewarding presentation was made by Dr. Sidney Hook, New York University professor of philosophy. In his remarks and those of other participants, one did not find the answer to security, either for the individual or for society.

This is largely because one probably could not find among any participants a belief that total security would be good or that it is even possible. Rather than finding security, the symposium determined to ascertain the best means of living with insecurity.

This is to consider security, of course, in such broad terms as the satisfaction of all wants, the elimination of all fears and anxieties. It was noted that the realization of total security presents a paradox since such a state of affairs would do away with any purpose in life and, thereby, produce an insecurity all its own.

But if we are never going to know security, we can know something of how to live with its opposite. This we find in large amounts in the remarks made by Dr. Hook. He told a large gathering of business and civic leaders, educators and others:

"In discussing the quest for security, we must always specify the contest within which it is sought. We must not speak of security as if 'total security' were possible or desirable. A considerable degree of insecurity, in some respects, is tolerable, if some security in other respects is assured. In the hierarchy of values, each individual must make his own choice. A man who is secure in his love and friendship may even enjoy the insecurities of battle because he knows that defeat does not mean the black despair of the spirit which follows annihilating failure. On the other hand, a man secure in his sense of achievement or power or in his sense of mission, may be able to live with the uncertainties of the esteem and regard and even affection of his fellows, without troubled concern."

Dr. Hook continued with the later comment that "my primary point here is that in the general run of our lives, the lives of those who do not make a cult of irresponsibility, we fear too much, too soon, and with insufficient discrimination of the reality, proximity and magnitude of the dangers that beset the adventure of living. When we learn to be unafraid, the insecure and uncertain loses its terrors for us. And we can learn to be unafraid through habit and reflections."

Dr. Hook concluded: "If all our wishes came true, then like the child in the fable, we would end up by wishing we no longer had the power to wish. For to be without some of the things we want seems necessary to escape taedium vita, that sickness of life which when it runs deep has no remedy. There is no need then to lament our human estate of insecurities. Intelligence can help us to reduce some of them, and courage can help us bear the rest with serenity."

Those few words from Dr. Hook's message can be classed as happy thoughts. For the family experiencing a shortage of cash, the man finding promotion difficult, the youngster having a tough time with studies, the woman not blessed with beauty and others, no solution is presented.

Seeking Out Balance

But what is provided is the means of eliminating such things as a constant source of irritation, friction and unhappiness. The means are found in recognition of the things in life we do have and in the reality of life as a constant struggle for achievement. This leads us not to complacency, not to the abandonment of all effort, not to adoption of any theory of inevitability, but to a more balanced and less disturbing state of mind. We are not forced with such pholosophy to hide our aspirations behind any false sense of well being or security.

Our determination in life should not be relaxed. We should not join, as Dr. Hook says, any "cult of irresponsibility." But where we fail to find the security we might like, we can come upon the means of living at peace with those unmet needs or desires. It helps just to know that total security is beyond the grasp of all men.

Water, An International Issue

Canada will hold a national election Monday. Both the Liberal and Conservative parties, which are the major ones, are committed to the furtherance of what we in the States would call the Great Society. The issue is really which party can do the more efficient job of liberalizing Canada.

Prime Minister Lester Pearson says his Liberal party needs more seats in parliament, presently possessing only 129 against the combined opposition of 136.

The detailed political picture of the campaign and its points of argument need not be detailed here. But it is especially interesting to the United States that water has become a subject of intense interest. Canada has lots of it and is selling some of it to nearby regions in the United States. It is being argued in Canada that this selling should be curtailed and the saved water used in Canada for greater economic betterment.

Thus we are getting a picture of how important water is becoming both nationally and internationally.

This is difficult to realize in Nebraska which is still wasting water like it was going out of date. We use most of it to flood away our topsoil and still resist major erosion measures. Not a principal river in eastern Nebraska has yet been harnessed. And we are fond of saying that there is enough ground water available to serve any demand. This, of course is not so, for the ground water exists in certain portions of Nebraska, not in all of it. And there is an adequate supply of it because we are slow in developing the resource.

New Quarters In Circulation

The new laminated quarters went into circulation nationally Monday.

When we checked Lincoln banks Friday we found that the first supplies were already in circulation throughout Nebraska.

Nebraska's supply largely comes from the Federal Reserve branch in Omaha. Quotas are shipped to the principal national banks which in turn supply their smaller correspondent national and state banks.

The first demand came from coin collectors. In this phase business was not too brisk in Lincoln. Packages of eight of the new 1965 quarters sold for two dollars, with some takers. The demand was far less than for the Kennedy half dollars. But only one lady was doubtful of them. She bought, examined and then asked to sell them back. All others took them in stride.

Perhaps the uncurious reception was due to the city's shortage of quarters for the past several weeks. Everyone wants quarters, no matter what kind.

A Lincoln bank official in charge of distributing the new coins described them as "feeling a little slicker than the old silver quarter, a little less shiny, and easily detectable because the milling around the edge shows a brownish band resulting from the coin's copper core.

What has dropped out of public concern is the reduction of silver content in the new coins. This could have been a great political issue back in 1900 when the free silver people were whooping it up. But there isn't enough silver nowadays to supply the coins for our accelerated economy. The public reaction finds its answer in the fact that the coins will buy the full quarter's worth, and that's about it.

Editorial Of The Day

From The Christian Science Monitor

Although women in the United States have had the right to vote for nearly a half century, many holdovers of discrimination against them remain in the business and factory world. The time appears ripe to tear down such barriers. The current strengthening of civil rights for minority groups shows how out of step they are in this modern age.

But at a recent meeting of the National Council of Women, speakers warned the delegates that the 1964 Civil Rights Act, while giving equal job and pay opportunities to female employees, does not enforce itself automatically. Women themselves will have to see that it is not evaded in promotions, on-the-job executive training, college admission policies.

At the National Council meeting Dr. Pauli Murray of the Yale University law faculty said there might be need for a Women's March on Washington. Marching is a long-standing women's suffrage technique that apparently brought results. It might serve to awaken women themselves to claim their rights under the 1964 act. Despite the reputation that American women have won for aggressiveness, many hesitate from timidity to enter what they regard as a man's field. Others fail to develop their potential, not grasping the opportunities now open to them. They need to go forward.

There is another kind of inequality that the Civil Rights Act fails to reach. These are the feminine poor, employed in occupations such as hotel and restaurant jobs, exempted by the Fair Labor Standards Act and housework which is exempt by most state laws. The National Council of Jewish Women is planning a "woman-to-woman antipoverty campaign" to help these women in many ways.

The encouraging aspect of these efforts is that educated women are directing them. These leaders can be expected not only to help less advantaged women claim their new rights but to convince the industrial, professional, and educational world that discrimination is out of date.

Ohio Family One Of Great Power

WASHINGTON — On the desk Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin is an application for a banking merger which illustrates the issue involved in one of the most hotly lobbied battles in the closing days of Congress — namely, bank mergers.

It's an application by the First National Bank of Jackson, Ohio, to merge with the powerful Bancohio Holding Company, which already controls 22 banks and in turn is controlled by the powerful Wolfe family of Columbus. This is one reason why Rep. Wright Patman, the Texarkana trust buster, is battling against the bank merger bill.

In central Ohio, the Wolfe family owns the major newspaper in Columbus, one radio station, one TV station, the Wear-U-Well shoe Corporation, the Ohio Corporation, and controls 22 banks. This concentration of power puts the Wolfe family in a position where it can influence the election of six members of Congress, one-fifth of the Ohio general assembly, and 10 members of the Ohio Senate.

Their banks and investment connections give the Wolfes almost a life and death grip on the economy of central Ohio. They can decide who gets credit and who doesn't, which determines, in turn, what businesses can exist and which can't.

Ironically, Rep. Tom Ashley of Toledo, the Democrat who tried to sneak the bank merger bill past Rep. Patman in the closing days of the last Congress, is vigorously opposed to the Wolfe financial combine in central Ohio. The Wolfes are Republicans. Yet Ashley wants more banking combines for the rest of the country.

Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon has voiced no objection to letting the Wolfe financial empire acquire the First National Bank of Jackson. The Justice Department has filed a brief in opposition. Reason for Justice Department opposition can be understood from an examination of the Wolfe economic setup.

Their newspaper, the Columbus Dispatch, is the largest and most powerful afternoon paper in central Ohio, with a circulation of 300,000. Also owned by the Wolfe family is a weekly, the Columbus Star. The Dispatch prints the combined Columbus Citizen and Ohio State Journal, though disclaims any editorial supervision over them.

The Wolfe family also owns the Ohio Company, which specializes in floating securities for various enterprises. Its assets were listed in 1962 as $14,085,000. Companies whose securities are being handled by the Ohio company are sometimes featured in the news columns of the Columbus dispatch.

The principal bank owned by the Wolfe family is the Ohio National, with deposits in 1963 of $314,406,000—or 46.9 per cent of the total deposits in Franklin county, the county in which Columbus, the state capital, is located.

O'Connor Now Is Top New York Demo

WASHINGTON—New York state Republicans fear there is a Democratic governor in their future as they study the returns which make John Lindsay the next mayor of New York City.

The threat comes from Queens District Attorney Frank O'Connor who outpolled everybody to become president of the City Council and the leading Democratic contender for governor next year. The boost for O'Connor coincides with another low point in Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's standing with the voters.

Rockefeller says he will run for re-election again, which is legitimate strategy for a governor facing another difficult year with a legislature under divided control. Republican leaders have reason to believe he means it, however, and were deeply pessimistic about the outcome even before O'Connor's triumph.

They will exert pressure on Rockefeller to change his mind, but he has control of the state party machinery and is well able to resist it. Their candidate is the senior senator, Jacob K. Javits, another formidable vote-getter and a liberal Jew in the mold of the late revered Herbert Lehman. Javits, now 61, would like to round out his career as governor and is fully qualified for the job.

Rockefeller has disposed of the Lindsay threat to him for 1966, and the decision about yielding to the leaders is his to make. If emotion and not calculation dominates his present thinking, it is easy to understand.

His political career seemed full of promise when he took Gov. Averell Harriman's measure in 1958 in his first bid for elective office. New Yorkers seemed enchanted by the glamour of his name, his folksy ways and radiant smile.

As New York governors inevitably do, he eyed the presidential scene in 1960, only to be coldly crushed by Republican organization leaders determined to nominate Vice-President Richard Nixon.

In 1964 it was apparent that the good fairies who put a golden spoon in Rockefeller's mouth at birth did not also bestow political instinct. But he had won re-election in large part due to Democratic weakness and in 1964 almost singlehandedly fought the good fight to save his party from Goldwater folly. Many men eager to lead the present recovery effort stood aside, hoping to benefit from a convention stalemate.

☆ ☆ ☆

Rockefeller's reverses have not all been bad luck. He misjudged the political effect on the circumstances of his bid for personal happiness. He lacks the talents which so long enabled Thomas E. Dewey to divide and conquer in Albany.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

"No Flag on Beer Bottles."

That was a slogan adopted by Nebraska's Prohibition Party in its platform of 1907.

Walton

The 1932 platform of Nebraska's Socialist Party called for a six-hour day with no reduction in pay.

Medicare for school children was part of the 1914 Socialist Platform.

The 1916 Socialist platform called for taxation of church property on the same basis as other property.

The Prohibition Party demanded a ban on boxing in its 1922 platform.

The 1860 Democratic Party platform asked from Congress appropriations to build a penitentiary, complete the territorial capitol, build various bridges and to provide land for a state university located in Cass County.

The Republican Party platform of 1874 urged legislative reapportionment.

Nebraska's party platforms dating from 1858 to 1940 are published in a volume compiled by the Work Projects Administration 25 years ago.

A random search through the book provides a fascinating look at the state's political history. And it explodes some carefully nurtured myths about Nebraska's staunch self-dependence.

Examination of old Socialist platforms would indicate that much which they championed has been realized.

The 1914 platform asked equal suffrage, abolition of the state senate, public power, consolidation of rural school districts, proportional representation, legalizing of the boycott and peaceful picketing, and an eight-hour day.

Other planks have not been put into effect, such as a request "that all corporations shall be allowed to return their own assessed valuation, the state to retain the right to buy these corporations at their assessed value."

Or state loans at nominal interest.

The Democratic Platform of 1912 had an interesting idea: "We favor a law requiring the governor to make public the names of persons who petition him, either verbally or in writing, to approve or veto any measure."

The Socialist Labor Platform of 1896 wanted federal ownership of railroads, canals, telegraphs, telephones and all means of public transportation and communication.

It also thought it wise that the U.S. Government have the exclusive right to issue money.

The Socialist platform of 1912 called for a graduated income tax, state life insurance, and abolition of the injunction.

The Progressive platform of 1914 favored "a graduated state income tax, discriminating sharply in favor of earned as compared with unearned income."

The 1916 Socialist platform wanted a graduated income tax, exempting incomes up to $2,000.

And the 1932 Socialist document suggested "a high income tax which will become confiscatory upon incomes over $10,000 per year, incomes below $2,500 per year being exempted."

That platform also wanted legislation authorizing the taxation of government securities, socialization of the credit and financial system, and the establishment of a state banking system.

The Democratic Party in 1912 wanted a law passed prohibiting vote-trading in the Legislature.

The 1940 Republican Platform declared: "The Republicans of Nebraska pledge that they will oppose our country entering upon or engaging in any foreign war."

Down the stretch:

—Said Jack Boyd to a gathering of public power leaders on the ninth floor of the Cornhusker Hotel: "A lot of Nebraska's power problems would be eliminated if the top story of this hotel collapsed."

—According to GOP National Committee figures, only 66.6% of Nebraska's potential voters actually cast ballots in the 1964 general election, compared to 71.1% in 1960.

—Every day, in every way, a special legislative session appears more possible.

One-Ways

Lincoln, Neb.

Again you hit the jackpot with your editorial, "Too Much One-Way." I have been interviewing people both in and out of the city of Lincoln, and they all agree wholeheartedly with you, and so do I.

Our very fine engineer should also do some interviewing before he springs something as vital as this because such a plan will only drive people away from Lincoln; not only will it drive shoppers away from the downtown area but also from other places of interest. Other towns have found after a trial that it doesn't work, and it seems as though we could profit by their mistakes.

I remember trying to get to the Prudential Building in Newark, New Jersey, from the airport about 10 years ago when that city had just put in one-ways over the downtown area, and after driving around and around and around, the cabbie finally admitted he just wasn't able to drive me up in front of the building — so I got out and walked 2½ blocks.

I am sure the mayor and City Council will check into this proposal very carefully before they adopt this kind of progress.

Thanks for your help in keeping things in balance here in our city.

Carrying The Ball

Lincoln, Neb.

Such a little while ago, birds on the wing lifted like the spirits of those who started to participate in the Olympic games. The symbolic flight through the air like the flying pages of the press have often given a fleeting glimpse of the dream of world peace. It is my belief that an expansion of the point system used in the Olympic games can bring about peace. Always and ever the athletes compete as individuals but the flag of victory is the flag of the country which the man represents. How can you separate a man from his country?

Instead of having armies meet on the battlefield, let the athletes meet on the gridiron or on the cinder path. Internationally known procedures under a police force controlled by the United Nations would maintain order. We have already had the Pope address the United Nations. The president of the Olympic games should be given the same privilege.

It has been said that if Nurmi was the epitome of running grace, then Zatopek ran like a man with a knife in his heart. In such a program as we suggest a great many athletes would die. "But how can man die better than facing fearful odds for the ashes of his father and the temples of his gods."

Some effort has already been made to present percentage problems involved but the picture has not yet gained a side entrance to the gallery of hopeful thinking. However, there is a saying in baseball, "If at first you don't succeed, try the outfield."

It is still my belief that war is nothing but a game with weapons added. Those who enjoy it from a distance could as easily train field glasses on a regatta.

It is still within the prospect of high hope, a pleasant course, and happy memories that eleven men can be found who would be willing to play football for the United States of America, first with exhibitions and then with competition. We once had a quarterback at the University of Nebraska who never even played football in high school. And you can teach a man to carry a ball as quickly as you can teach him to parry and thrust with a bayonet.

Those heroic diplomats who surround the table at the Geneva conference have carried in briefcases and maps and lexicons loaded with words. All we ask is that one quarterback carry in one football loaded with fresh air.

Low Rating

Lincoln, Neb.

I would like to urge everyone to read the article, "Facts About Fluoridation," in the November issue of The Reader's Digest. I was shocked to find out that water fluoridation was voted down here in Lincoln. Let's correct that now and do whatever we can to start water fluoridation here. In the meantime, all parents should ask their doctors for prescriptions for fluoridated vitamins for their children.

I have noticed several articles in the newspaper recently saying that Nebraskans have an inferiority complex about our state. Well, here is one more reason why —we are behind on so many things.

Last spring we moved back to Nebraska and no matter how glad we are to be "home," I can't help but feel disgusted sometimes. Whenever anyone hears a TV report on anything progressive, California has already done it or rates highest, and Nebraska is eighth from the bottom, or some such position.

Other things that have bothered me about Lincoln are: the city doesn't fog for mosquitoes, with the possible exception of the park areas; the forests of TV antennas that detract so much from the looks of a new neighborhood; the talk of a downtown mall; the mortuary advertisements everywhere; and not being able to enter national contests.

Early Donations

Ingleside, Neb.

Employes at the Hastings State Hospital, Ingleside, Nebraska, are already making plans for Christmas on behalf of some 1,143 patients in their care. As in the past, we must ask the help of various organizations, merchants and individuals if each patient is to receive a gift on Christmas Day, and we would appreciate it if all donations to this cause are mailed early again this year.

We are indebted to the newspapers of Nebraska for their cooperation in helping us to make this need known. Last year the results were most gratifying.

Swiney Child Stealing Conviction Upheld

The State Supreme Court Friday upheld the conviction of a Columbus minister and his son on a child stealing charge and ruled that the sentences imposed were not excessive

The Rev. George D. Swiney, pastor of the Bible Baptist Church in Columbus, and his son, Oren Swiney, associate pastor of the church, were convicted by a Madison County District Court jury

They were charged with forcibly taking four children from their mother, Mrs. Carol Brinkman, on Aug. 31, 1963, after she and her husband, Harold Brinkman, had a marital squabble.

"The record in this case shows by both direct and circumstantial evidence that the defendants forcibly took and carried away the four children with the intent unlawfully to detain or conceal them from their monther who had their legal custody," the unanimous high court opinion said

"Although much of the testimony offered by the state was denied by the defendants or contradicted by other witnesses produced by them, there is sufficient evidence to sustain the findings of guilty It was the province of the jury to resolve the conflicts in the testimony, determine the credibility of the witnesses, and weigh the evidence "

The Rev. Swiney was sentenced to serve from 18 months to three years in the State Penal Complex, and his son was sentenced to a one-year term. Their attorneys claimed the punishment was excessive

"It is a matter within the discretion of the trial court whether the defendant in a particular case should be sentenced or placed upon probation," said the Supreme Court. "The sentences imposed are within the maximum and minimum limits prescribed by the Legislature.

"There is nothing in this record to show an abuse of discretion by the trial court "

The Swineys have been free on $1,000 bond each pending final determination of the case

Firing Of Omaha Policeman Sustained

The State Supreme Court, in a 5-2 decision, Friday affirmed the Omaha City Personnel Board's action early last year in sustaining the firing of police undercover agent Michael Brown

The high court said Douglas County District Judge James P. O'Brien had no jurisdiction in the case when he reversed the Personnel Board's action because Brown's attorneys failed to file their appeal with the district court in time.

"The order of the Personnel Board remains final and binding on all parties concerned," the Supreme Court majority opinion said

Brown was fired on Dec. 12, 1963, because he allegedly gave false testimony in a liquor license hearing before the City Council His testimony concerned a brawl in an Omaha bar in which he was badly beaten

Omaha taxpayer R R Larson appealed the district court ruling after Omaha city officials decided not to pursue the case

The Supreme Court majority said that Brown's appeal of the Personnel Board ruling was filed on March 5 of last year, one month and two days after the Personnel Board voted to sustain the firing of the undercover agent State law requires that appeal be brought within one month, the majority opinion said.

The majority noted that Brown was present when the Personnel Board took its Feb. 3 vote

Brown's attorneys contended Brown had one month to appeal from the time he received the letter on Feb. 7, Personnel Board's ruling. He received the leter on Feb. 7, they said, so his appeal was within the allowable time.

Supreme Court Judges Harry A Spencer and Robert L. Smith agreed.

"Time did not commence to run against Brown before entry of the decision on the records of the board so that it was within his power to comply with the statute by filing the transcript in the district court," Judges Spencer and Smith said.

In other rulings Friday the high court

In a 4-3 decision, affirmed a Hooker County District Court jury verdict that Kenton B Bowers was guilty of negligence in a July 24 1963, traffic accident on State Highway 2 west of Mullen in which Herman C Maire was killed

—Affirmed the Loup County District Court dismissal of an action by Cecil D Hawthorne and others seeking forfeiture of a lease by Cassidy Land and Cattle Company on a 9,500-acre ranch in Loup County

—Affirmed the Seward County District Court dismissal of the appeal of Helena I Redford, who claimed she was rightful heir to the estate of Mezzie T Colman of Seward, who died on May 3 of last year

—Affirmed a Lancaster District Court jury verdict conforming the shares of parties in a Lincoln duplex and appointing a referee to resolve the parties' differences John V Sheridan had appealed the ruling, contending the jury incorrectly designated the shares of the persons involved

—Dismissed the appeal of Elmer F Busboom and others seeking to recover $14 862 they claim is due them by Otis and Lois G Gregory on a contract of sale of 2 250 shares of common stock in Busboom Brothers, Inc The appeal was brought from a Douglas County District Court decision

—Affirmed but flightly modified a Sioux County District Court ruling generally in favor of Margaret Cook wife of the late Harold J Cook, in a dispute with three of Cook's stepdaughters over Cook's will

—Held that the Furnas County District Court was correct in awarding $1,230 to Albert F Hrdlicka and others for calves sold and delivered to J P Allen.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Wife Wants To Travel; Husband Prefers Golf

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "My husband retired last year at 68. We can afford to travel and I'm eager to see something of this planet before moving on But he's perfectly content to stay at home and play golf day after day. What am I supposed to do—wait until he feels like taking me somewhere?"

A. No. Pack your bag, bid him goodbye and tell him you'll send him a postcard. If you want company take a girl friend or relative along. It's perfectly normal for people to have different opinions as to what constitutes a good time in retirement, and there's no law decreeing that wives have to stay home and watch their husbands traipse across the fairways.

Q. "We've suddenly grown old and, while we've got our health, find ourselves retired at 70 with nothing except Social Security and a small pension, totaling $192 for the two of us How do these things happen?"

A. I don't know what happened in your case, but surveys show most older people scrimping along on inadequate retirement incomes failed in their green years to set up a personal plan for financing their golden years. But take pleasure in the fact that you've still got more than most folks past 65—and your good health puts you way ahead of the game. Chances are you can both scare up a part-time job if you really need more income

Q. "Are there really more older people around today than there used to be?"

A. Yes, more than twice as many. At the turn of the century people past 65 constituted four percent of the population. But today folks past 65 represent nearly nine percent of the population

If you would like a booklet "Exercises for Folks Past 40" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins At Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs

Swiney Child Stealing Conviction Upheld

The State Supreme Court Friday upheld the conviction of a Columbus minister and his son on a child stealing charge and ruled that the sentences imposed were not excessive.

The Rev. George D. Swiney, pastor of the Bible Baptist Church in Columbus, and his son, Oren Swiney, associate pastor of the church, were convicted by a Madison County District Court jury.

They were charged with forcibly taking four children from their mother, Mrs. Carol Brinkman, on Aug. 31, 1963, after she and her husband, Harold Brinkman, had a marital squabble.

"The record in this case shows by both direct and circumstantial evidence that the defendants forcibly took and carried away the four children with the intent unlawfully to detain or conceal them from their monther who had their legal custody," the unanimous high court opinion said.

"Although much of the testimony offered by the state was denied by the defendants or contradicted by other witnesses produced by them, there is sufficient evidence to sustain the findings of guilty. It was the province of the jury to resolve the conflicts in the testimony, determine the credibility of the witnesses, and weigh the evidence."

The Rev. Swiney was sentenced to serve from 18 months to three years in the State Penal Complex, and his son was sentenced to a one-year term. Their attorneys claimed the punishment was excessive.

"It is a matter within the discretion of the trial court whether the defendant in a particular case should be sentenced or placed upon probation," said the Supreme Court. "The sentences imposed are within the maximum and minimum limits prescribed by the Legislature.

"There is nothing in this record to show an abuse of discretion by the trial court."

The Swineys have been free on $1,000 bond each pending final determination of the case.

Firing Of Omaha Policeman Sustained

The State Supreme Court, in a 5-2 decision, Friday affirmed the Omaha City Personnel Board's action early last year in sustaining the firing of police undercover agent Michael Brown.

The high court said Douglas County District Judge James P. O'Brien had no jurisdiction in the case when he reversed the Personnel Board's action because Brown's attorneys failed to file their appeal with the district court in time.

"The order of the Personnel Board remains final and binding on all parties concerned," the Supreme Court majority opinion said.

Brown was fired on Dec. 12, 1963, because he allegedly gave false testimony in a liquor license hearing before the City Council. His testimony concerned a brawl in an Omaha bar in which he was badly beaten.

Omaha taxpayer R. R. Larson appealed the district court ruling after Omaha city officials decided not to pursue the case.

The Supreme Court majority said that Brown's appeal of the Personnel Board ruling was filed on March 5 of last year, one month and two days after the Personnel Board voted to sustain the firing of the undercover agent. State law requires that appeal be brought within one month, the majority opinion said.

The majority noted that Brown was present when the Personnel Board took its Feb. 3 vote.

Brown's attorneys contended Brown had one month to appeal from the time he received the letter on Feb. 7, Personnel Board's ruling. He received the leter on Feb. 7, they said, so his appeal was within the allowable time.

Supreme Court Judges Harry A. Spencer and Robert L. Smith agreed.

"Time did not commence to run against Brown before entry of the decision on the records of the board so that it was within his power to comply with the statute by filing the transcript in the district court," Judges Spencer and Smith said.

In other rulings Friday the high court:

—In a 4-3 decision, affirmed a Hooker County District Court jury verdict that Kenton B. Bowers was guilty of negligence in a July 24, 1963, traffic accident on State Highway 2 west of Mullen in which Herman C. Maire was killed.

—Affirmed the Loup County District Court dismissal of an action by Cecil D. Hawthorne and others seeking forfeiture of a lease by Cassidy Land and Cattle Company on a 9,500-acre ranch in Loup County.

—Affirmed the Seward County District Court dismissal of the appeal of Helena I. Redford, who claimed she was rightful heir to the estate of Mezzie T. Colman of Seward, who died on May 3 of last year.

—Affirmed a Lancaster District Court jury verdict conforming the shares of parties in a Lincoln duplex and appointing a referee to resolve the parties' differences. John V. Sheridan had appealed the ruling, contending the jury incorrectly designated the shares of the persons involved.

—Dismissed the appeal of Elmer F. Busboom and others seeking to recover $14,862 they claim is due them by Otis and Lois G. Gregory on a contract of sale of 2,250 shares of common stock in Busboom Brothers, Inc. The appeal was brought from a Douglas County District Court decision.

—Affirmed but flightly modified a Sioux County District Court ruling generally in favor of Margaret Cook, wife of the late Harold J. Cook, in a dispute with three of Cook's stepdaughters over Cook's will.

—Held that the Furnas County District Court was correct in awarding $1,230 to Albert F. Hrdlicka and others for calves sold and delivered to J. P. Allen.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "My husband retired last year at 68. We can afford to travel and I'm eager to see something of this planet before moving on. But he's perfectly content to stay at home and play golf day after day. What am I supposed to do—wait until he feels like taking me somewhere?"

A. No. Pack your bag, bid him goodbye and tell him you'll send him a postcard. If you want company take a girl friend or relative along. It's perfectly normal for people to have different opinions as to what constitutes a good time in retirement, and there's no law decreeing that wives have to stay home and watch their husbands traipse across the fairways.

Q. "We've suddenly grown old and, while we've got our health, find ourselves retired at 70 with nothing except Social Security and a small pension, totaling $192 for the two of us. How do these things happen?"

A. I don't know what happened in your case, but surveys show most older people scrimping along on inadequate retirement incomes failed in their green years to set up a personal plan for financing their golden years. But take pleasure in the fact that you've still got more than most folks past 65—and your good health puts you way ahead of the game. Chances are you can both scare up a part-time job if you really need more income.

Q. "Are there really more older people around today than there used to be?"

A. Yes, more than twice as many. At the turn of the century people past 65 constituted four percent of the population. But today folks past 65 represent nearly nine percent of the population.

If you would like a booklet "Exercises for Folks Past 40" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins At Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed enevelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Workmen's Court May Destroy Old Accident Reports

The State Justice Department said Friday the Nebraska Workmen's Compensation court may destroy old accident reports and other papers which are no longer of value to the court.

To do so, the department said, the court's presiding judge must submit a listing of all records sought to be destroyed to the secretary of state and receive the approval of the secretary of state or the State Records Bureau.

The opinion was written for presiding Judge Ben Novicoff of the Workmen's Compensation Court.

Workmen's Court May Destroy Old Accident Reports

The State Justice Department said Friday the Nebraska Workmen's Compensation court may destroy old accident reports and other papers which are no longer of value to the court.

To do so, the department said, the court's presiding judge must submit a listing of all records sought to be destroyed to the secretary of state and receive the approval of the secretary of state or the State Records Bureau.

The opinion was written for presiding Judge Ben Novicoff of the Workmen's Compensation Court.

HEAR THESE WORDS

...from an old Guide Book. It says we are travelers on the way. And since we pass this way but once, we want good directions.

Through the centuries, long lines of tall, serious-thinking men have cried, "Which way shall I take?"

Well, here is a man who found it. Then, won't you hear the challenge? It says that ultimately men want the rewards of one who walks a straight and narrow path, but few there be that earn them. It speaks to all, "Keep My Commandments," but few there be that keep them. No one questions the brevity of this book's directions. Its commands come with all the authority of Heaven and earth, from God to man... to you. Centuries of human experience declare its words to be true. Your own soul recognizes the importance of its teachings. Then why not accept its challenge? Make all this a personal matter. Straighten up your life. Use religious ethics in your business dealings and start going to church to prove you mean it!

Branched Oak Plan Gets Go-Ahead

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Game Commission Friday authorized Director Mel Steen to proceed with an estimated $1.5 million plan for recreational development of the proposed 1,800-acre Branched Oak Reservoir northwest of Lincoln.

The Army Corps of Engineers will begin acquiring land for the multi-million dollar flood control structure in December with construction to get under way next summer.

"The lake will not be usable until 1969 or 1970," Steen said, "but it will be the largest and best of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed lakes."

Steen said a swimming beach, two boat marinas and picnic areas are planned for the lake.

The Corps will acquire the necessary land for both flood-control and recreational purposes with the Commission reimbursing the government for the recreational land.

Steen declined to break out estimated land acquisition costs in the development, but said the investment would be "substantial."

In other action, the commission declared a moratorium on transaction in cabin leases on Department of Interior lands in Nebraska.

The moratorium will run except as to hardship cases, until a new policy is declared by the federal agency.

Jack Strain, parks division chief, said current leases will run for 20 years, but a possible federal policy change has posed a big question mark for the future.

Affected federal land adjoins Lake Minatare and the Sherman, Enders, Swanson, Hugh Butler and Harry Strunk Reservoirs.

The commission approved the employment of Gene L. Eno of Lincoln as accountant and field auditor for recreational projects developed under the Soil and Water Conservation Act.

Eno, an accountant and former life insurance agent, will be paid $540 monthly.

Ft. McPherson Restoration Urged

Two North Platte citizens Friday urged the State Game Commission to purchase land near Maxwell for the restoration of old Fort McPherson.

Lincoln County Judge Sam Diedrichs and historical novelist Nellie Yost said 210 acres, including the south half of the old Indian fort, will be sold Nov. 10 at public auction.

"This is the last chance to restore the fort," Diedrichs said. "This area has been neglected too long. Where else could you find 10 to 20 miles of land with so much history?"

Commission members suggested that the City of North Platte might purchase the land, hold 40 or 50 acres needed for fort restoration and sell the rest.

It authorized Director Mel Steen to discuss with North Platte city officials whether the city might be willing to purchase the land and sell it later to the commission.

Mrs. Yost said many remnants of the fort, established in 1863, are still located in the North Platte area, including desks, the main flag post and corral fencing.

The fort site itself is marked only by a monument.

Steen said the historical significance of the fort makes restoration desirable, but noted such a project couldn't be undertaken for some time because of money limitations.

Better Hunter Relations Sought

The State Game Commission Friday agreed to ask the State Chamber of Commerce to aid in improving relations between hunters and landowners.

"We've got the birds this year," said Commission Chairman Louis Findeis of Pawnee City, "but no way of getting to them."

Findeis deplored the growing number of no trespassing signs being posted in some hunting areas.

'Should Start Working'

"We should start working on Chambers of Commerce to encourage farmers to let hunters on their lands," he said.

But Director Mel Steen said the situation is not as bad as painted by Findeis, though there is always room for improvement.

Steen said the department has received "a number of letters from non-resident hunters saying how hospitable Nebraska people were and of the friendliness of the farmers."

"Nebraskans historically have hunted where they pleased," Steen said, "but this attitude must change."

Must Get Permission

"No one has the right to hunt on any land—whether posted or unposted—without asking permission of the owner. Hunters must get broken to the habit of asking permission."

Steen there are several localities where there's been trouble. Sometimes local boys have encouraged farmers to post against outsiders and some landowners are making a business out of hunting, he said.

Findeis told of seeing one non-resident car stop at five farms in attempting to find a place to hunt.

But, Steen contended, "Anyone who wants to put in the effort can always find a place to hunt."

Direct Dial Set For Six Towns

E. J. Flowerday, area manager of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. at Hastings, announced Friday direct distance dialing will be offered in Hastings, Sutton, Clay Center, Harvard, Fairfield and Hansen beginning Dec. 8.

He said customers at these exchanges will then be able to dial their own long distance calls.

In addition to handling customer station-to-station dialed calls, he said, the new service will also enable customers to dial person-to-person, collect, credit-card and special long distance calls to more than 80 million telephones in the continental United States and Canada.

Available in only a few other communities in the U.S., this is the first LT&T installation of "all call direct distance dialing."

Branched Oak Plan Gets Go-Ahead

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Game Commission Friday authorized Director Mel Steen to proceed with an estimated $1.5 million plan for recreational development of the proposed 1,800-acre Branched Oak Reservoir northwest of Lincoln.

The Army Corps of Engineers will begin acquiring land for the multi-million dollar flood control structure in December with construction to get under way next summer.

"The lake will not be usable until 1969 or 1970," Steen said, "but it will be the largest and best of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed lakes."

Steen said a swimming beach, two boat marinas and picnic areas are planned for the lake.

The Corps will acquire the necessary land for both flood-control and recreational purposes with the Commission reimbursing the government for the recreational land.

Steen declined to break out estimated land acquisition costs in the development, but said the investment would be "substantial."

In other action, the commission declared a moratorium on transaction in cabin leases on Department of Interior lands in Nebraska.

The moratorium will run except as to hardship cases, until a new policy is declared by the federal agency.

Jack Strain, parks division chief, said current leases will run for 20 years, but a possible federal policy change has posed a big question mark for the future.

Affected federal land adjoins Lake Minatare and the Sherman, Enders, Swanson, Hugh Butler and Harry Strunk Reservoirs.

The commission approved the employment of Gene L. Eno of Lincoln as accountant and field auditor for recreational projects developed under the Soil and Water Conservation Act.

Eno, an accountant and former life insurance agent, will be paid $540 monthly.

Ft. McPherson Restoration Urged

Two North Platte citizens Friday urged the State Game Commission to purchase land near Maxwell for the restoration of old Fort McPherson.

Lincoln County Judge Sam Diedrichs and historical novelist Nellie Yost said 210 acres, including the south half of the old Indian fort, will be sold Nov. 10 at public auction.

"This is the last chance to restore the fort," Diedrichs said. "This area has been neglected too long. Where else could you find 10 to 20 miles of land with so much history?"

Commission members suggested that the City of North Platte might purchase the land, hold 40 or 50 acres needed for fort restoration and sell the rest.

It authorized Director Mel Steen to discuss with North Platte city officials whether the city might be willing to purchase the land and sell it later to the commission.

Mrs. Yost said many remnants of the fort, established in 1863, are still located in the North Platte area, including desks, the main flag post and corral fencing.

The fort site itself is marked only by a monument.

Steen said the historical significance of the fort makes restoration desirable, but noted such a project couldn't be undertaken for some time because of money limitations.

Approximately 600 Scottish Rite Masons attended the banquet Friday night climaxing the three-day reunion.

The 125th reunion class will be known as the C. Petrus Peterson Memorial Class in honor of the late Lincolnite who was active in fraternal, government and civic activities.

Better Hunter Relations Sought

The State Game Commission Friday agreed to ask the State Chamber of Commerce to aid in improving relations between hunters and landowners.

"We've got the birds this year," said Commission Chairman Louis Findeis of Pawnee City, "but no way of getting to them."

Findeis deplored the growing number of no trespassing signs being posted in some hunting areas.

'Should Start Working'

"We should start working on Chambers of Commerce to encourage farmers to let hunters on their lands," he said.

But Director Mel Steen said the situation is not as bad as painted by Findeis, though there is always room for improvement.

Steen said the department has received "a number of letters from non-resident hunters saying how hospitable Nebraska people were and of the friendliness of the farmers."

"Nebraskans historically have hunted where they pleased," Steen said, "but this attitude must change."

Must Get Permission

"No one has the right to hunt on any land—whether posted or unposted—without asking permission of the owner. Hunters must get broken to the habit of asking permission."

Steen there are several localities where there's been trouble. Sometimes local boys have encouraged farmers to post against outsiders and some landowners are making a business out of hunting, he said.

Findeis told of seeing one non-resident car stop at five farms in attempting to find a place to hunt.

But, Steen contended, "Anyone who wants to put in the effort can always find a place to hunt."

Direct Dial Set For Six Towns

E. J. Flowerday, area manager of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. at Hastings, announced Friday direct distance dialing will be offered in Hastings, Sutton, Clay Center, Harvard, Fairfield and Hansen beginning Dec. 8.

He said customers at these exchanges will then be able to dial their own long distance calls.

In addition to handling customer station-to-station dialed calls, he said, the new service will also enable customers to dial person-to-person, collect, credit-card and special long distance calls to more than 80 million telephones in the continental United States and Canada.

Available in only a few other communities in the U.S., this is the first LT&T installation of "all call direct distance dialing."

Later that day Mr and Mrs. Harry Hirsch paid courtesy to the visitors when they invited guests for a canape party at their home.

What They're Reading

A popular book in Lincoln has been and is "Flight of the Falcon" by Du Maurier. This story covers 10 days in the life of a tourist courier in modern Italy, who leaves his job to return to his native city of Ruffano to learn why his old nurse, Marta, should be the beggar found murdered on the church steps He finds his brother, Aldo, believed killed in a plane crash during the war, back in their caretakers quarters in the Ducal Palace and acting strangely. Taking a job at the university, Beo sees frightening undercurrents in the trouble Aldo is promoting among students and faculty.

Quickly, the life of fated Aldo and his connection with Marta emerges against the background of the annual student festival and its story of the unhappy Duke Claudio. Miss Du Maurier again creates plausible breathless adventure and suspense.

Why Grow Old?

Josephine Bowman

Experts have been speculating about the behavior of teen-agers for a long time. Then they began investigating parents at whose doors the responsibility for most of the children's misdemeanors was dumped. BUT, who would have dreamed that they would have the nerve to investigate grandparents?

Traditionally, one of the blessings of more mature years has been the right of grandparents to enjoy their grandchildren and still remain scot-free of any recriminations, no matter how the grandchildren turn out. If they turn out to be paragons of virtue the grandparents beam with pride. If they rob a bank or have a vile temper, well, that is a real puzzler'

Thinking back though, I realize that this sneaky idea has been germinating in the minds of some uncharitable characters for a long time. About eight years ago a friend of mine was worried because her young child had a mild nervous trouble It was nothing serious, but she felt that she should report it to the child's doctor.

The physician asked to come out to the home. He looked at every book in the house. Then he asked to see all of the records which were played and as a last shot said, "Now bring out the grandmother" My friend's mother-in-law was visiting at the time.

Pass Law?

My first reaction is to say that there should be a law passed, securing the right of grandparents to enjoy their grandchildren without any responsibility attached. On second thought maybe grandparents should be investigated. Maybe this should have happened long ago.

There is no doubt that grandparent - grandchild relationship can be one of the most wonderful ones possible. In many instances the grandparent is in a position to have more influence on the child than the parent. The fact that the grandparent is not the one to discipline the child gives her a head start. Often the grandparent has more leisure than the parent who is so embroiled in the crisis of daily living and responsibility. However, this is not so usual as it once was.

Of course there are all kinds of grandparents because grandparents are people. Some will add to the happiness and fun of their grandchildren and because of the wisdom and understanding which the years have brought them, will be a source of comfort and a port in a storm. These will exert strong but suble guidance.

Then of course there is the other kind who confuses, not only the child but the issue, by interfering with and disagreeing with parental discipline and ideas about how to rear the children Also there are those who accept privilege without taking responsibility and spoil their grandchildren outrageously. If they do not see them often this may be all right, but if they live nearby or in the same house it must be murder!

There have been some serious studies made about grandparents and more will be made. Here are a few facts about them. There are probably more grandparents today than ever before. More folks are living long enough to be grandparents. Grandparents are younger on an average than before because their children marry at a younger age. Grandparents have more grandchildren because they live longer, their children marry younger and the vogue today is for larger families

There are fewer three-generation homes today More grandparents live in their own homes. Grandparents are more indulgent today than they were in the past. What kind of a grandparent are you? Think that law should be passed?

the snoring battle

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'll never forget the first night of my honeymoon My darling fell fast asleep at midnight while I was awake until seven o'clock the next morning just listening to him snore. He started out by holding his breath for so long I didn't know whether to send for a doctor or a priest. Then he'd exhale ever so slowly, emitting a long whistle, popping his lips and finally terminating with a noise that sounded like a corps of pneumatic drills. I felt like kicking him right through the wall every night.

After the honeymoon we got twin beds. That didn't solve anything. It just made it harder for me to kick him. Finally, we had separate bedrooms, but I could hear him through the walls. Then a friend introduced me to the greatest invention since sliced bread. EAR PLUGS! They have saved my marriage, and I am not kidding.

Opening lead—queen of diamonds.

Anyone can take tricks with aces and kings; the idea is to make the low cards count. Playing your low cards to the best advantage frequently pays good dividends, but it is not always easy to find the most economical way of playing your cards so as to conserve high-card strength.

Take this hand where South went wrong. West led a diamond, taken in dummy with the king, and South played a low heart to the ace followed by a low spade to the king, which held.

But when he now continued with a spade and East followed with the eight, South made the mistake of covering with the ten, which lost to the ace. West returned a diamond, taken with the ace, and declarer then entered his hand with a club to play a spade in the hope of finding a 3-3 division.

West showed out and South eventually went down two as a result of running into the 4-2 spade division.

Had he made the proper play of ducking the eight of spades, South would have made the contract. He would have made three spade tricks by leading the jack later, and would also have scored two tricks in each of the side suits.

Actually, South had nothing to gain by covering the eight. If it turned out that the spades were divided 3-3, his play of ducking or covering would make no difference in the result.

If it turned out that the spades were divided 4-2 and West had the four of them, ducking or covering again could make no difference.

But if, as in the actual case, it turned out that East had the four spades, ducking the eight was absolutely essential to the success of the contract. This distinct possibility should have been exploited by South, since he could not gain by covering the eight and had a chance to gain by ducking it.

Why Grow Old?
Josephine Bowman

Experts have been speculating about the behavior of teen-agers for a long time. Then they began investigating parents at whose doors the responsibility for most of the children's misdemeanors was dumped. BUT, who would have dreamed that they would have the nerve to investigate grandparents?

Traditionally, one of the blessings of more mature years has been the right of grandparents to enjoy their grandchildren and still remain scot-free of any recriminations, no matter how the grandchildren turn out. If they turn out to be paragons of virtue the grandparents beam with pride. If they rob a bank or have a vile temper, well, that is a real puzzler!

Thinking back, though, I realize that this sneaky idea has been germinating in the minds of some uncharitable characters for a long time. About eight years ago a friend of mine was worried because her young child had a mild nervous trouble It was nothing serious, but she felt that she should report it to the child's doctor.

Of course there are all kinds of grandparents because grandparents are people. Some will add to the happiness and fun of their grandchildren and because of the wisdom and understanding which the years have brought them, will be a source of comfort and a port in a storm. These will exert strong but suble guidance.

Then of course there is the other kind who confuses, not only the child but the issue, by interfering with and disagreeing with parental discipline and ideas about how to rear the children. Also there are those who accept privilege without taking responsibility and spoil their grandchildren outrageously. If they do not see them often this may be all right, but if they live nearby or in the same house it must be murder!

There have been some serious studies made about grandparents and more will be made. Here are a few facts about them. There are probably more grandparents today than ever before. Wesleyan Trips Hastings, 27-20

. . . BIG NWU 1ST QUARTER

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska Wesleyan squeaked to its seventh football victory of the year, 27-20 over Hastings, thanks to a 20-point first quarter and a timely pass interception by Dwight Tietjen with about a minute left in the contest.

Tietjen pilfered Gerald Fisher's pass in the end zone with 1:09 to play, after Broncos had marched 55 yards in four plays.

The Plainsmen scored at will during the first period, threatening to make a runaway of the contest. Coach Ray Westover's Club scored all three times it had the ball in that period, recovering Hastings fumbles to take possession twice.

But the second quarter was all Hastings. Fisher returned Wesleyan's fourth kickoff of the evening from his own 22 to the 35 where Dick Peterson, a speedster from Lexington, and Bennie Congrove took charge, late in the first quarter.

Peterson broke away for 20 to the NWU 43, and joined Congrove, Jack Giddings, and Roland Ryan in short bursts to the Wesleyan eight-yard line. Fisher then found Giddings, an All-Nebraska College Conference halfback for the past two seasons, in the end zone for the TD. The pass came with 10:57 left in the half.

The Broncs bucked again moments later, after forcing the Plainsmen to punt. This time Fisher carried over himself from the one-foot line after Wesleyan's defense became stingy on the one yard stripe, holding the intruders out for three downs.

The Plainsmen held a 20-13 intermission lead, but early in the third period Hastings threatened again. After recovering a NWU bobble on the Wesleyan 32 yard line, Peterson and Giddings advanced the ball to the three where a field goal attempt failed.

Wesleyan got its final tally five minutes later when Dennis Quick picked off a Fisher aerial and returned it to the Hastings nine. Two plays later Plainsman quarterback Dave Lebsack hit Quick with a nine-yard pass for the TD.

Hastings, however, followed suit, scoring on a 75-yard jaunt by Bob McAuliff, a 175-pound freshman. The tally kept the Broncs in reach, 27-20, moving into the final period.

Hastings threatened again after a Wesleyan field goal attempt went array. The outburst ended, however, with the Broncos camped on the NWU 24 yard line, Tietjen swiping Fisher's toss in the end zone to wrap up the Plainsman homecoming victory.

Although Wesleyan came out on top in the only category that really mattered — the final score, Hastings pretty much dominated the rest of the statistics.

The Broncs rolled up 316 yards on the ground, while adding 44 in the air. Wesleyan managed 210 rushing yards, but its 65 air yards outdid the visitors. Hastings won the first down competition, 19-12. Lebsack hit nine passes in 13 attempts.

Northeast Rally Nips Bolts, 14-13

. . . DEFENSE PAVES WAY

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast, its proud defensive reputation tarnished by 52 and 66-yard Pius X touchdown bombs, stormed from behind on a 99-yard march in the fourth quarter to squeeze past the Thunderbolts, 14-13, at Seacrest Field Friday night.

The Rockets set the stage for their 17-play march to victory by stopping a Pius X bid for a clinching touchdown inches short of the goal.

The Thunderbolts threatened to put the game out of reach when they took possession at the Northeast 22 late in third quarter

Striking through the air the Thunderbolts earned a first and goal at the Northeast six.

But the Rockets had what it took. Dana Stephenson picked up a yard and John McEniry plunged for two more in gigantic pileups as the third quarter ended. Northeast stopped Kim Wheeler at the two and then Stephenson was called on again.

Leaping over the right side, he was stopped just past the line of scrimmage and the ball squirted into the hands of Northeast's Tom Thompson.

A sneak by Jack Ketterer and two dive plays featuring busy Doug Campbell gave the Rockets a first down and breathing room at the 13.

End Hal Smith then made a sensational off-balance grab of a Ketterer aerial for a 31-yard pickup and the Rockets were on their way

From the Pius X 44 on, however, it was strictly a grind-it-out assault with Campbell getting 39 of the final 56 yards as he set up a one-yard plunge by Ketterer that brought the Rockets from behind.

Ball control was the name of the game all night for Northeast at Art Bauer's second-ranked outfit hammered out 17 first dewns and gave the Thunderbolts few opportunities with the football.

A machine-like 75-yard drive by Northeast following the opening kickoff consumed the entire first quarter, but was stymied by the Thunderbolts at the Pius X three.

But that opening assault paved the way for the all-important safety which was the eventual winning margin for the Rockets.

The Thunderbolts were forced to punt from their own eight. Offsetting penalties canceled a good 43-yard kick by Stephenson and his second try never materialized as a horde of white-jerseyed Rockets stormed in to trap him in the end zone. Tackle Wally Winter led the charge with Wayne Summers and Rich Johnson right with him.

George Hanigan's interception of a Ketterer pass at the Pius X 42 set the stage for the first scoring strike by the Thunderbolts.

Pius X, now 6-3, closes its season at Sioux City Heelan next week.

Davis Sparks Win Over KU

. . . FIRST JAYHAWK LOSS

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska's freshman football team spotted Kansas a first period field goal, then raged from behind in the final three quarters to wallop the previously undefeated Jayhawk yearlings, 28-3, at Memorial Stadium Friday.

The two teams battled on almost even terms throughout the first quarter, but Kansas was able to score with 7:14 left on a 32-yard field goal by David Aikins.

The junior Jayhawks set up the play by taking the ball from their own 43 to the Nebraska 19 in just five plays, the longest gain of the drive being a 37-yard end sweep by halfback Ron Goates.

With the ball deep in its own territory, the Nebraska defense stiffened and allowed only five yards in the next three plays. At that point, Aikins entered the game and booted the tally.

Aikins attempted another field goal late in the period from the 30-yard line, but the kick fell short.

The Husker yearlings could not mount a real threat until late in the second quarter when they scored twice on two consecutive series of downs to take a 14-3 half-time lead.

The first drive started on the Kansas 45 after Adrian Fiala intercepted a pass from Jayhawk quarterback Bob Douglass and returned it to that point.

Led by the sparkling running of fullback Dick Davis of Omaha, the Nebraska freshman took the ball into the end zone in 11 plays, Davis scoring the tally from six yards out. Denis Galbraith, who kicked all four NU extra points, booted his first of the day, and the Huskers led, 7-3.

After the kickoff, KU could not move against the aroused Nebraska defense and facing a fourth and six situation on its own 31 decided to fake a punt. The play involved was a double reverse which failed terribly because the ball carrier, end Thermus Butler, fumbled the ball. Nebraska recovered.

On the first play from scrimmage at the Kansas 19, 6-7 NU quarterback Frank Patrick found Davis open in the end zone and lofted a touchdown pass to him for the second Husker TD as the half ended. Galbraith added the point after, and Nebraska led 14-3.

Davis, who left the game after three quarters, was the Huskers' greatest threat. He netted 69 yards in the first quarter alone and totaled 170 yards in 24 carries for the day.

The NU freshmen scored their third touchdown in the corresponding quarter on a 70-yard march from their own 30. Highlighting the drive was a 14-yard scamper by Davis and the scoring run of 11 yards by Galbraith. Galbraith was hit on the five-yard line but twisted and bulled his way into the end zone.

The Husker second team took credit for the final touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

The Nebraska yearlings took the ball on downs at the Kansas 45 and scored in 11 plays. Reserve quarterback Bruce Harding kept the Jayhawks off balance with quarterback options and end sweeps, and Larry Frost, a 195-pound halfback from Malcom, finally scored on a four-yard plunge through the line.

The freshman are now 2-1 for the season, losing only to Missouri. They face Iowa State next Friday at Memorial Stadium in the season finale.

Links Face O. South In 1965 Finale

Lincoln High closes out its football series with another long-time foe Saturday night as it travels to Omaha to meet South at Bergquist Stadium.

The Links, 5-1-1 for the season, are hopeful of keeping a clean slate against opponents from Omaha's Metropolitan League.

In earlier encounters the Links have tripped up Omaha Central, Bishop Ryan and Bellevue.

All four opponents drop from the Lincoln High schedule next year because of commitments in the new Omaha circuit.

Lincoln High coach Andy Loehr indicates that South (1-6-1) has good size, but not a lot of speed.

Loehr is hopeful that the Links can continue their fine defensive play and come up with a better scoring punch in their finale.

The Links have given up only four touchdowns all season, a feat matched only by Northeast in the Class A ranks.

Deer Season Opens Today

Deer season opens Saturday and reports from Game Commission conservation officers across the state predict plenty of deer for hunters throughout Nebraska.

Although there is still a good deal of standing cover, the nine-day hunt could be one of the best the state has seen. A record 24,150 permits were authorized this year, so more riflemen than ever before will take to the field in pursuit of the elusive whitetail and mule deer.

Bird hunting is good statewide, but pressure is extremely light. The corn harvest is well under way, and there will be more hunting space open soon. Apparently, however, the weather just hasn't been brisk enough to put gunners in a field-tromping mood.

A capsule report by areas:

NORTHEAST: State Senator George Syas of Omaha and three companions again got their limits in Boone County. Hunting with him were Wayne Boldt, George Heikel and Art Lundburg. Both pheasant and quail are good. Best ringneck areas are around Columbus and in Madison, Cedar, and Boone counties Quail are a good bet along the Loup and Platte rivers Thousands of ducks are heading south, but they are decoying in well at Decatur Lake, near Tekamah There are mallards all along the Missouri river, and ducks are plentiful at Lewis and Clark Lake

SAND HILLS: Hunters are still fighting heavy cover. However, gunners willing to work can get their share of birds around Ainsworth and in Custer County. More mallards are showing up everyday in Cherry County.

PANHANDLE: Best pheasant areas are around Mirage Flats, Hay Springs, Alliance, Berea, and Hemingford. Quail shooting is good along the North Platte River There are 6,000 mallards on Walgren Lake, 5,000 ducks on Whitney Lake, and another 8,000 mallards around the west end of Lake McConaughy. Turkey season ends Sunday, November 7, and as of Thursday afternoon, 617 hunters had bagged their turkeys in the Round Top Unit

SOUTHWST: Hunting pressure is very light, but those hunters out are getting their limits of quail around Arapahoe, McCook, and Cambridge, and pheasant hunting is good in those same areas. There are plenty of ducks, throughout the region Fall fishing is good in the Platte River sand pits, tailraces, and bay areas of the reservoirs

SOUTHEAST. Quail hunting is still the main item of interest, and success is good However the ringneck also is high on the list Most hunters are going for the mixed bag Best pheasant spots are in York, Fillmore, Saline, and Seward counties.

Nicklaus, Devlin Having Troubles In Aussie Meet

Sydney, Australia (AP)—Bob Charles and Peter Thomson tied for the halfway lead in the Wills Masters Golf Tournament Friday, while a pain-wracked Gary Player gamely stayed in contention and Jack Nicklaus collapsed with some miserable putting.

Charles, the New Zealand left-hander, shot a five-under-par 67 and matched the 36-hole total of 139 turned in by Thomson, the Australian star, who posted a 70.

Player, his swing hampered by severe back and chest pains, battled to his second straight 70, trying Australians Bruce Devlin and Dennis Sullivan at 140. Devlin, a three-stroke leader after a first-round 66, soared to a 74 and Sullivan carded a 71.

NWU Harriers To Enter NCAA National Meet

Coach Woody Greeno announced Friday he will enter his Nebraska Wesleyan University cross-country team in the NCAA college division national meet at Wheaton, Ill., Nov. 13.

"Our times justify it," Greeno said. "If we come close to the times we ran at Doane last Saturday, I think we can place in the top 10 or 12."

Southeast Defeats Grand Island, 19-6

Grand Island — Lincoln Southeast struck for two quick touchdowns in a seven minute period of the first quarter here Friday night and then put its defensive unit to work to preserve a 19-6 victory over Grand Island.

Defensive cornerback Ron Nelson set the tempo on the second play of the game when he intercepted a Grand Island pass in the flat and romped 55 yards for the first Knight score.

If this wasn't enough to stun the Islanders, Jon Roberts took a 19-yard pass from quarterback Tom Kos and scored the next time Southeast got the ball to jump into a 13-0 lead. Dave McEwen got the extra point after the second touchdown with a run.

Southeast had another golden scoring opportunity before the first quarter ended. Another defender, Paul Merritt, blasted through the Grand Island line to block a punt. This gave Southeast the ball on the Islander 13, but the Knights couldn't take advantage of this one.

That ended the scoring until the fourth period when the two teams traded six-pointers.

Southeast stuck close to the ground and rolled 55 yards in nine plays after taking a short Grand Island kickoff for the final tally. McEwen took it in from the 11-yard line

Southeast had another electrifying touchdown nullified by a clipping penalty. It came on the second half kickoff when Pat Mooberry scampered 80 yards only to have the play rejected.

Scott Dworak played a big part in the second Southeast touchdown when he returned a punt 25 yards to the Grand Island 20.

Steve Mitchell and Bill Guilford were standouts for Southeast on defense. And Jim Deitemeyer got off two excellent punts that traveled to the Grand Island eight and nine-yard lines, respectively.

Southeast thus completed its season with a 3-5-1 record. Grand Island will take a 2-6-1 record into the Big Ten Conference playoffs Thursday at Kearney.

Wesleyan Trips Hastings, 27-20

. . . BIG NWU 1ST QUARTER

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska Wesleyan squeaked to its seventh football victory of the year, 27-20 over Hastings, thanks to a 20-point first quarter and a timely pass interception by Dwight Tietjen with about a minute left in the contest.

Tietjen pilfered Gerald Fisher's pass in the end zone with 1:09 to play, after Broncos had marched 55 yards in four plays.

The Plainsmen scored at will during the first period, threatening to make a runaway of the contest. Coach Ray Westover's Club scored all three times it had the ball in that period, recovering Hastings fumbles to take possession twice.

But the second quarter was all Hastings. Fisher returned Wesleyan's fourth kickoff of the evening from his own 22 to the 35 where Dick Peterson, a speedster from Lexington, and Bennie Congrove took charge, late in the first quarter.

Peterson broke away for 20 to the NWU 43, and joined Congrove, Jack Giddings, and Roland Ryan in short bursts to the Wesleyan eight-yard line. Fisher then found Giddings, an All-Nebraska College Conference halfback for the past two seasons, in the end zone for the TD. The pass came with 10:57 left in the half.

The Broncs bucked again moments later, after forcing the Plainsmen to punt. This time Fisher carried over himself from the one-foot line after Wesleyan's defense became stingy on the one yard stripe, holding the intruders out for three downs.

The Plainsmen held a 20-13 intermission lead, but early in the third period Hastings threatened again. After recovering a NWU bobble on the Wesleyan 32 yard line, Peterson and Giddings advanced the ball to the three where a field goal attempt failed.

Wesleyan got its final tally five minutes later when Dennis Quick picked off a Fisher aerial and returned it to the Hastings nine. Two plays later Plainsman quarterback Dave Lebsack hit Quick with a nine-yard pass for the TD.

Hastings, however, followed suit, scoring on a 75-yard jaunt by Bob McAuliff, a 175-pound freshman. The tally kept the Broncs in reach, 27-20, moving into the final period.

Hastings threatened again after a Wesleyan field goal attempt went array. The outburst ended, however, with the Broncos camped on the NWU 24 yard line, Tietjen swiping Fisher's toss in the end zone to wrap up the Plainsman homecoming victory.

Although Wesleyan came out on top in the only category that really mattered — the final score, Hastings pretty much dominated the rest of the statistics.

The Broncs rolled up 316 yards on the ground, while adding 44 in the air. Wesleyan managed 210 rushing yards, but its 65 air yards outdid the visitors. Hastings won the first down competition, 19-12. Lebsack hit nine passes in 13 attempts.

Davis Sparks Win Over KU

. . . FIRST JAYHAWK LOSS

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska's freshman football team spotted Kansas a first period field goal, then raged from behind in the final three quarters to wallop the previously undefeated Jayhawk yearlings, 28-3, at Memorial Stadium Friday.

The two teams battled on almost even terms throughout the first quarter, but Kansas was able to score with 7:14 left on a 32-yard field goal by David Aikins.

The junior Jayhawks set up the play by taking the ball from their own 43 to the Nebraska 19 in just five plays, the longest gain of the drive being a 37-yard end sweep by halfback Ron Goates.

With the ball deep in its own territory, the Nebraska defense stiffened and allowed only five yards in the next three plays. At that point, Aikins entered the game and booted the tally.

Aikins attempted another field goal late in the period from the 30-yard line, but the kick fell short.

The Husker yearlings could not mount a real threat until late in the second quarter when they scored twice on two consecutive series of downs to take a 14-3 half-time lead.

The first drive started on the Kansas 45 after Adrian Fiala intercepted a pass from Jayhawk quarterback Bob Douglass and returned it to that point.

Led by the sparkling running of fullback Dick Davis of Omaha, the Nebraska freshman took the ball into the end zone in 11 plays, Davis scoring the tally from six yards out. Denis Galbraith, who kicked all four NU extra points, booted his first of the day, and the Huskers led, 7-3.

After the kickoff, KU could not move against the aroused Nebraska defense and facing a fourth and six situation on its own 31 decided to fake a punt. The play involved was a double reverse which failed terribly because the ball carrier, end Thermus Butler, fumbled the ball. Nebraska recovered.

On the first play from scrimmage at the Kansas 19, 6-7 NU quarterback Frank Patrick found Davis open in the end zone and lofted a touchdown pass to him for the second Husker TD as the half ended. Galbraith added the point after, and Nebraska led 14-3.

Davis, who left the game after three quarters, was the Huskers' greatest threat. He netted 69 yards in the first quarter alone and totaled 170 yards in 24 carries for the day.

The NU freshmen scored their third touchdown in the corresponding quarter on a 70-yard march from their own 30. Highlighting the drive was a 14-yard scamper by Davis and the scoring run of 11 yards by Galbraith. Galbraith was hit on the five-yard line but twisted and bulled his way into the end zone.

The Husker second team took credit for the final touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

The Nebraska yearlings took the ball on downs at the Kansas 45 and scored in 11 plays. Reserve quarterback Bruce Harding kept the Jayhawks off balance with quarterback options and end sweeps, and Larry Frost, a 195-pound halfback from Malcom, finally scored on a four-yard plunge through the line.

The freshman are now 2-1 for the season, losing only to Missouri. They face Iowa State next Friday at Memorial Stadium in the season finale.

Northeast Rally Nips Bolts, 14-13

. . . DEFENSE PAVES WAY

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast, its proud defensive reputation tarnished ed by 52 and 66-yard Pius X touchdown bombs, stormed from behind on a 99-yard march in the fourth quarter to squeeze past the Thunderbolts, 14-13, at Seacrest Field Friday night.

The Rockets set the stage for their 17-play march to victory by stopping a Pius X bid for a clinching touchdown inches short of the goal.

The Thunderbolts threatened to put the game out of reach when they took possession at the Northeast 22 late in third quarter.

Striking through the air the Thunderbolts earned a first and goal at the Northeast six.

But the Rockets had what it took. Dana Stephenson picked up a yard and John McEniry plunged for two more in gigantic pileups as the third quarter ended. Northeast stopped Kim Wheeler at the two and then Stephenson was called on again.

Leaping over the right side, he was stopped just past the line of scrimmage and the ball squirted into the hands of Northeast's Tom Thompson.

A sneak by Jack Ketterer and two dive plays featuring busy Doug Campbell gave the Rockets a first down and breathing room at the 13.

End Hal Smith then made a sensational off-balance grab of a Ketterer aerial for a 31-yard pickup and the Rockets were on eheir way.

From the Pius X 44 on, however, it was strictly a grind-it-out assault with Campbell getting 39 of the final 56 yards as he set up a one-yard plunge by Ketterer that brought the Rockets from behind.

Ball control was the name of the game all night for Northeast at Art Bauer's second-ranked outfit hammered out 17 first dewns and gave the Thunderbolts few opportunities with the football.

A machine-like 75-yard drive by Northeast following the opening kickoff consumed the entire first quarter, but was stymied by the Thunderbolts at the Pius X three.

But that opening assault paved the way for the all-important safety which was the eventual winning margin for the Rockets.

The Thunderbolts were forced to punt from their own eight. Offsetting penalties canceled a good 43-yard kick by Stephenson and his second try never materialized as a horde of white-jerseyed Rockets stormed in to trap him in the end zone. Tackle Wally Winter led the charge with Wayne Summers and Rich Johnson right with him.

George Hanigan's interception of a Ketterer pass at the Pius X 42 set the stage for the first scoring strike by the Thunderbolts.

Pius X, now 6-3, closes its season at Sioux City Heelan next week.

Deer Season Opens Today

Deer season opens Saturday and reports from Game Commission conservation officers across the state predict plenty of deer for hunters throughout Nebraska.

Although there is still a good deal of standing cover, the nine-day hunt could be one of the best the state has seen. A record 24,150 permits were authorized this year, so more riflemen than ever before will take to the field in pursuit of the elusive white-tail and mule deer.

Bird hunting is good statewide, but pressure is extremely light. The corn harvest is well under way, and there will be more hunting space open soon. Apparently, however, the weather just hasn't been brisk enough to put gunners in a field-tromping mood.

A capsule report by areas:

NORTHEAST: State Senator George Syas of Omaha and three companions again got their limits in Boone County. Hunting with him were Wayne Boldt, George Heikel, and Art Lundburg. Both pheasant and quail are good. Best ringneck areas are around Columbus and in Madison, Cedar, and Boone counties. Quail are a good bet along the Loup and Platte rivers. Thousands of ducks are heading south, but they are decoying in well at Decatur Lake, near Tekamah. There are mallards all along the Missouri river, and ducks are plentiful at Lewis and Clark Lake.

SAND HILLS: Hunters are still fighting heavy cover. However, gunners willing to work can get their share of birds around Ainsworth and in Custer County. More mallards are showing up everyday in Cherry County.

PANHANDLE: Best pheasant areas are around Mirage Flats, Hay Springs, Alliance, Berea, and Hemingford. Quail shooting is good along the North Platte River. There are 6,000 mallards on Walgren Lake, 5,000 ducks on Whitney Lake, and another 8,000 mallards around the west end of Lake McConaughy. Turkey season ends Sunday, November 7, and as of Thursday afternoon, 617 hunters had bagged their turkeys in the Round Top Unit.

SOUTHWST: Hunting pressure is very light, but those hunters out are getting their limits of quail around Arapahoe, McCook, and Cambridge, and pheasant hunting is good in those same areas. There are plenty of ducks, throughout the region. Fall fishing is good in the Platte River sand pits, tailraces, and bay areas of the reservoirs.

SOUTHEAST: Quail hunting is still the main item of interest, and success is good. However, the ringneck also is high on the list. Most hunters are going for the mixed bag. Best pheasant spots are in York, Fillmore, Saline, and Seward counties.

Links Face O. South In 1965 Finale

Lincoln High closes out its football series with another long-time foe Saturday night as it travels to Omaha to meet South at Bergquist Stadium.

The Links, 5-1-1 for the season, are hopeful of keeping a clean slate against opponents from Omaha's Metropolitan League.

In earlier encounters the Links have tripped up Omaha Central, Bishop Ryan and Bellevue.

All four opponents drop from the Lincoln High schedule next year because of commitments in the new Omaha circuit.

Lincoln High coach Andy Loehr indicates that South (1-6-1) has good size, but not a lot of speed.

Loehr is hopeful that the Links can continue their fine defensive play and come up with a better scoring punch in their finale.

Nicklaus, Devlin Having Troubles In Aussie Meet

Sydney, Australia (AP)—Bob Charles and Peter Thomson tied for the halfway lead in the Wills Masters Golf Tournament Friday, while a pain-wracked Gary Player gamely stayed in contention and Jack Nicklaus collapsed with some miserable putting.

Charles, the New Zealand left-hander, shot a five-under-par 67 and matched the 36-hole total of 139 turned in by Thomson, the Australian star, who posted a 70.

Player, his swing hampered by severe back and chest pains, battled to his second straight 70, trying Australians Bruce Devlin and Dennis Sullivan at 140. Devlin, a three-stroke leader after a first-round 66, soared to a 74 and Sullivan carded a 71.

NWU Harriers To Enter NCAA National Meet

Coach Woody Greeno announced Friday he will enter his Nebraska Wesleyan University cross-country team in the NCAA college division national meet at Wheaton, Ill., Nov. 13.

"Our times justify it," Greeno said. "If we come close to the times we ran at Doane last Saturday, I think we can place in the top 10 or 12."

Making the trip will be Bob Briggs, the lone senior on the the team, Jim Comstock, Ralph Merriman, Larry Stephens, Steve Bell, Aldis Augstums and Terry Radenslaben.

—KNIGHTS' FINALE—

Southeast Defeats Grand Island, 19-6

Grand Island — Lincoln Southeast struck for two quick touchdowns in a seven minute period of the first quarter here Friday night and then put its defensive unit to work to preserve a 19-6 victory over Grand Island.

Defensive cornerback Ron Nelson set the tempo on the second play of the game when he intercepted a Grand Island pass in the flat and romped 55 yards for the first Knight score.

If this wasn't enough to stun the Islanders, Jon Roberts took a 19-yard pass from quarterback Tom Kos and scored the next time Southeast got the ball to jump into a 13-0 lead. Dave McEwen got the extra point after the second touchdown with a run.

Southeast had another golden scoring opportunity before the first quarter ended. Another defender, Paul Merritt, blasted through the Grand Island line to block a punt. This gave Southeast the ball on the Islander 13, but the Knights couldn't take advantage of this one.

That ended the scoring until the fourth period when the two teams traded six-pointers.

Southeast stuck close to the ground and rolled 55 yards in nine plays after taking a short Grand Island kickoff for the final tally. McEwen took it in from the 11-yard line.

Southeast had another electrifying touchdown nullified by a clipping penalty. It came on the second half kickoff when Pat Mooberry scampered 80 yards only to have the play rejected.

Scott Dworak played a big part in the second Southeast touchdown when he returned a punt 25 yards to the Grand Island 20.

Steve Mitchell and Bill Guilford were standouts for Southeast on defense. And Jim Deitemeyer got off two excellent punts that traveled to the Grand Island eight and nine-yard lines, respectively.

Southeast thus completed its season with a 3-5-1 record. Grand Island will take a 2-6-1 record into the Big Ten Conference playoffs Thursday at Kearney.

Bob Gratopp Paces Geneva To 20-0 Upset Of Superior

. . . DEFENSE KEY FACTOR IN GAME

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Superior—"Until tonight."

Coach Eldon Aeschliman didn't mean to sound musical, and certainly didn't intend to compose a swan song. The two words were simply his lament to a 20-0 shellacking by Geneva.

"Our defense has been tough all season, tough enough that our record was 6-2 and only 41 points had been scored on us," he reflected. "This time we had hoped to get the offense clicking as well, but . . ."

In fairness, Aeschliman's complaint was less against his own Wildcats than the clawing of their same-name opponent. Geneva showed a great prowess both on the ground and in the air—and there was too much Bob Gratopp.

It was chiefly the 200-pound senior slotback who hammered holes in Superior's line and who repeatedly was on one end or the other of pass receptions. He took three in quick succession, for example, to open the scoring halfway through the second quarter.

Quarterback Steve Strickland did the pitching until a hand injury forced his removal. Gratopp then stepping in as signal caller. Helped toward the goal line by a second crucial penalty and a pass reception by Steve Evans, Gratopp galloped across from the six shortly after the half. Mark Nicholson kicked his first of two pacements for a 13-0 advantage.

The switch in air assignments clicked for the final TD with three minutes remaining, this time coming on a 20-yard Gratopp-to-Evans aerial.

The home club's strongest threat was then stopped by the clock on the 7-yard line. Previously Superior's deepest penetration had been to the 21 in the second quarter.

Most hopeful moments for Superior came on several straight shots from left-handed quarterback Nate Stineman to Alan Conger. The backfield had trouble afoot, however.

The win pushed coach Sam Sample's club to 6-3. Superior had lost only to Hebron and Sutton.

Norfolk (AP)—An aggressive Norfolk Junior College defensive line partially blocked four Centerville punts that contributed to a 21-14 Norfolk victory Friday night.

Centerville outgained the Blackhawks by 50 yards but the deflected kicks and failure to score twice when within Norfolk's five-yard line helped the Blackhawks to their seventh victory against one defeat.

Bob Gratopp Paces Geneva To 20-0 Upset Of Superior

. . . DEFENSE KEY FACTOR IN GAME

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Superior—"Until tonight."

Coach Eldon Aeschliman didn't mean to sound musical, and certainly didn't intend to compose a swan song. The two words were simply his lament to a 20-0 shellacking by Geneva.

"Our defense has been tough all season, tough enough that our record was 6-2 and only 41 points had been scored on us," he reflected. "This time we had hoped to get the offense clicking as well, but . . ."

In fairness, Aeschliman's complaint was less against his own Wildcats than the clawing of their same-name opponent. Geneva showed a great prowess both on the ground and in the air—and there was too much Bob Gratopp.

It was chiefly the 200-pound senior slotback who hammered holes in Superior's line and who repeatedly was on one end or the other of pass receptions. He took three in quick succession, for example, to open the scoring halfway through the second quarter.

Quarterback Steve Strickland did the pitching until a hand injury forced his removal, Gratopp then stepping in as signal caller. Helped toward the goal line by a second crucial penalty and a pass reception by Steve Evans, Gratopp galloped across from the six shortly after the half. Mark Nicholson kicked his first of two pacements for a 13-0 advantage.

The switch in air assignments clicked for the final TD with three minutes remaining, this time coming on a 20-yard Gratopp-to-Evans aerial.

The home club's strongest threat was then stopped by the clock on the 7-yard line. Previously Superior's deepest penetration had been to the 21 in the second quarter.

Most hopeful moments for Superior came on several straight shots from left-handed quarterback Nate Stineman to Alan Conger, The backfield had trouble afoot, however.

The win pushed coach Sam Sample's club to 6-3. Superior had lost only to Hebron and Sutton.

College Football's Big 3 Meet Losers

. . . COMPLACENCY MAIN THREAT TODAY

By Associated Press

College football's Big Three—Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska—probably have nothing to fear Saturday but complacency.

The three powerhouses, with a combined record of 21-0, face rivals who have won five games and lost 15. It's a case of everything to gain, nothing to lose for the underdogs.

And for the Spartans, Razorbacks and Cornhuskers the stakes are high — national prestige, conference titles, post-season bowls

An interesting set-up for a surprise or two in this season of surprises.

Top-ranked Michigan State plays at Iowa, where reports are circulating that Coach Jerry Burns is on the way out. If the Spartans win as expected against the Hawkeyes, who are 1-6, only Indiana stands in the way of Michigan State's first Big Ten title.

Arkansas, No. 2 in the nation, is at Rice, 2-4 The tough Razorbacks then will have two more Southwest Conference rivals to tackle in their drive for another championship. Southern Methodist and Texas Tech Tech, now second in the conference and rated Arkansas' sternest test, entertains New Mexico State Saturday They're each 6-1.

Third-ranked Nebraska is at home against Kansas, 2-5, and finishes its Big Eight season against two other losing teams. Oklahoma State and Oklahoma Missouri, which gave Nebraska a battle last week before losing 16-14, has a key road game against the conference's other contender, Colorado

The annual Southeastern scramble will get a bit unscrambled with five contenders in action. Auburn, 2-0-1 in the conference, meets Mississippi State at Jackson, Miss.; Georgia, 3-1, faces Florida, 2-2, at Jacksonville; Alabama, 4-1-1, is at Louisiana State; and Kentucky, 2-2, has a night game at Vanderbilt.

Still another SEC challenger, Tennessee, is at home to an ex-conference member, seventh-ranked Georgia Tech.

Southern California, pacesetter in the Pacific Atlantic Conference—but with UCLA and Washington State still in the running—plays at California Washington is at UCLA and Oregon at Washington State in other big PAC games.

The Ivy League's two all-winning clubs, Princeton and Dartmouth, are solidly favored as they march toward their season-end showdown Nov. 20. Princeton, with its string of 16 victories, is at Harvard and Dartmouth, 6-0 this year, plays Columbia in New York.

First-place Clemson is at North Carolina and second-place Duke plays at North Carolina State in Atlantic Coast highlights. Front-runners Louisville and Tulsa of the Missouri Valley tangle at Tulsa. Miami of Ohio seeks to protect its Mid-American lead at home against Toledo West Virginia entertains Virginia Tech in the Southern Conference, and Wyoming is at New Mexico in the Western Athletic.

In the East—Notre Dame takes its high-powered team to Pittsburgh for a match against the kitty-cat Panthers; Syracuse, with flashy Floyd Little, is at home for Oregon State, and Maryland is at Navy.

And in intersectional events, Army and Air Force battle at Chicago, unbeaten Utah State plays at Memphis State and Stanford is at Tulane.

Fritz-Led Peru Harriers Win NWU Invitational

Colts 1 Touchdown Pick Over Bears

. . . PACKERS SHOULD REBOUND AGAINST DETROIT

New York (AP)—Call it desertion—or maybe desperation but it's time to pick against the Chicago Bears

Picked to knock off Green Bay last Sunday, the Bears came through, helping make a disastrous week just a little bit palatable. But despite the fact the Bears have momentum with four straight victories, the pick here is for the Baltimore Colts to beat Chicago this week.

Asking the Bears to end the two longest winning streaks in the National Football League on consecutive weeks is too much Or is it?

Anyway, if you can believe it, here are this week's winners after a 5-6 mark last Sunday lowered the season mark to 47-29-3 and a .618 percentage:

National League

Baltimore 31, Chicago 24—Lenny Moore's return has given more balance to the Colts' offense and there was nothing wrong with Johnny Unitas' four-touchdown performance against San Francisco. Rudy Bukich, Gale Sayers and Co have impressed but a victory here seems to be asking too much

Cleveland 31, Philadelphia 24—Title this one Jim Brown bounces back Brown held to 39 yards by Minnesota last week, doesn't usually have two weeks like that in a row The Browns, have been ragged but the Eagles don't have much, including a chance to win

Green Bay 14, Detroit 10—Bart Starr, shaken up last week, physically, by the Bears, will be in the Packer's starting line-up while the Lions have lost top receiver Terry Barr with a sprained right knee A tight one with the edge to Green Bay

Minnesota 38, Los Angeles 21—Vikings coming on with the running of Bill Brown and Tommy Mason complementing Fran Tarkenton's passing Minnesota defense also appears improved The Rams gain yards but too often fumble it away

St. Louis 28, Pittsburgh 21—The Cardinals have lost two in a row and the Steelers have won two in a row but the Steelers may be moving up a step in class here Give Charley Johnson the edge over Bill Nelson

Washington 24, New York 21—The biggest item in the Redskins' favor may be a thigh injury to Giants' Tucker Frederickson. Sonny Jurgensen seems to be coming on for Washington.

San Francisco 35, Dallas 21—The 49ers may have to go with George Mira instead of John Brodie, who has a slight shoulder separation, but he completed five of seven passes after taking over last week. Cowboys on five-game losing streak

American League

Buffalo 28, Boston 24—A close one. These arch-rivals always make it a battle but Eastern Division leading Bills have had another week to break in their new receiving corps. The Patriots still haven't been able to find a running attack that would take the load off Babe Parilli

San Diego 35, Denver 17—Chargers' Paul Lowe, No. 1 in rushing, will show Broncos' Cookie Gilchrist, No 2 in rushing, how it's done San Diego should be smarting from its first loss to Boston last week and that usually spells trouble for the opposition

Houston 28, Oakland 24 — This struggle matches the Oilers' league-leading pass offense vs the Raiders' league-leading pass defense. Veteran George Blanda, however will successfully probe the weak spots

New York 21, Kansas City 14—The Jets have their first win and now they'd like nothing better than to snap their 12-game losing streak on the road Kansas City could be the place to do it.

Lincoln Lady Wins At GI Horse Show

Cipriano Pleased With Speed, Scoring Ability

Happy about improved scoring potential and quickness, but disturbed by a lack of team rebounding strength, Nebraska basketball coach Joe Cipriano has set the annual Varsity-Freshman mixer for Nov. 19 at the Coliseum.

Tip-off in the first test for the 1965 Husker varsity will be 7 35 p.m.

Cipriano, starting his third session at the Husker helm, surveyed his squad after 17 practice sessions and smiled. While that is a good sign of improvement, he wasn't laughing out loud—which means he's still got problems.

"We definitely have more quickness this year," Joe said. "And our scoring potential is much better. Also, we are very happy about the fact that this year there is much more competition for starting positions."

Setting the brakes before Husker cage fans could start a snake dance, Cipriano cautioned:

"However, much of the competition is coming from sophomores, which means we'll have a lot of young players seeing action. This means we'll have to be patient about some mistakes early in the campaign, but we hope to gain experience and poise by the time the Big Eight season rolls around "

Jim Damm, sophomore guard candidate, has paced the newcomer crop in early going, and Cipriano says he has "been looking good — probably the most pleasant surprise of the season to date."

Joe also noted that sophs are pushing veterans at several positions.

Veteran Fred Hare has been kept from operating at full efficiency because of an elbow injury, but he's expected to be 100% by next week. Frank Emkey, another newcomer, has been out all week because of a knee injury.

Cipriano has been working the squad in two groups:

Group A—Jim Damm and Grant Simmons, guards, Willie Campbell, center, Nate Branch and Tom Baack, forwards, Stuart Lantz guard and forward

Group B—Fred Hare and Ron Simmons, guards, Frank Emkey center, Jim Davidson and Ernie Strasil, forwards, Coley Webb, forward and center

Grant Simmons, Campbell, Branch, Hare and Webb are lettermen.

. . . COMPLACENCY MAIN THREAT TODAY

By Associated Press

College football's Big Three—Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska—probably have nothing to fear Saturday but complacency.

The three powerhouses, with a combined record of 21-0, face rivals who have won five games and lost 15. It's a case of everything to gain, nothing to lose for the underdogs.

And for the Spartans, Razorbacks and Cornhuskers the stakes are high — national prestige, conference titles, post-season bowls.

An interesting set-up for a surprise or two in this season of surprises.

Top-ranked Michigan State plays at Iowa, where reports are circulating that Coach Jerry Burns is on the way out. If the Spartans win as expected against the Hawkeyes, who are 1-6, only Indiana stands in the way of Michigan State's first Big Ten title.

Arkansas, No. 2 in the nation, is at Rice, 2-4. The tough Razorbacks then will have two more Southwest Conference rivals to tackle in their drive for another championship, Southern Methodist and Texas Tech. Tech, now second in the conference and rated Arkansas' sternest test, entertains New Mexico State Saturday. They're each 6-1.

Third-ranked Nebraska is at home against Kansas, 2-5, and finishes its Big Eight season against two other losing teams, Oklahoma State and Oklahoma. Missouri, which gave Nebraska a battle last week before losing 16-14, has a key road game against the conference's other contender, Colorado.

The annual Southeastern scramble will get a bit unscrambled with five contenders in action. Auburn, 2-0-1 in the conference, meets Mississippi State at Jackson, Miss.; Georgia, 3-1, faces Florida, 2-2, at Jacksonville; Alabama, 4-1-1, is at Louisiana State; and Kentucky, 2-2, has a night game at Vanderbilt.

Still another SEC challenger, Tennessee, is at home to an ex-conference member, seventh-ranked Georgia Tech.

Southern California, pace-setter in the Pacific Atlantic Conference—but with UCLA and Washington State still in the running—plays at California. Washington is at UCLA and Oregon at Washington State in other big PAC games.

The Ivy League's two all-winning clubs, Princeton and Dartmouth, are solidly favored as they march toward their season-end showdown Nov. 20. Princeton, with its string of 16 victories, is at Harvard and Dartmouth, 6-0 this year, plays Columbia in New York.

First-place Clemson is at North Carolina and second-place Duke plays at North Carolina State in Atlantic Coast highlights. Front-runners Louisville and Tulsa of the Missouri Valley tangle at Tulsa. Miami of Ohio seeks to protect its Mid-American lead at home against Toledo. West Virginia entertains Virginia Tech in the Southern Conference, and Wyoming is at New Mexico in the Western Athletic.

In the East—Notre Dame takes its high-powered team to Pittsburgh for a match against the kitty-cat Panthers; Syracuse, with flashy Floyd Little, is at home for Oregon State, and Maryland is at Navy.

And in intersectional events, Army and Air Force battle at Chicago, unbeaten Utah State plays at Memphis State and Stanford is at Tulane.

Fritz-Led Peru Harriers Win NWU Invitational

A first-place finish by Lou Fritz plus fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth-place finishes by other Peru State College runners led the Bobcats to victory in the Nebraska Wesleyan Invitational cross country meet at Pioneers Park Friday afternoon.

Peru scored 28 points for the team win. Wesleyan was second with 56 points, Doane third at 69, Midland fourth with 100 and John F. Kennedy College fifth with 120 points. Dana was not given a score because it did not enter a full team. The course was a little less than four miles.

1. Lou Fritz, Peru, 19:20; 2. Dennis Daw, Midland, 19:30; 3. Jim Comstock, Wesleyan, 19:40; 4. Bruce Sheffield, Doane, 19:49; 5. Tim Hendrichs, Peru, 19:50; 6. Jim Watson, Peru, 19:56; 7. Jim O'Donough, Peru, 20:01; 8. Harold Noland, J.F.K., 20:10; 9. Jim Sprague, Peru, 20:20; 10. Ralph Merriman, Wesleyan, 20:24.

Colts 1 Touchdown Pick Over Bears

. . . PACKERS SHOULD REBOUND AGAINST DETROIT

New York (AP)—Call it desertion—or maybe desperation but it's time to pick against the Chicago Bears.

Picked to knock off Green Bay last Sunday, the Bears came through, helping make a disastrous week just a little bit palatable. But despite the fact the Bears have momentum with four straight victories, the pick here is for the Baltimore Colts to beat Chicago this week.

Asking the Bears to end the two longest winning streaks in the National Football League on consecutive weeks is too much. Or is it?

Anyway, if you can believe it, here are this week's winners after a 5-6 mark last Sunday lowered the season mark to 47-29-3 and a .618 percentage:

National League

Baltimore 31, Chicago 24—Lenny Moore's return has given more balance to the Colts' offense and there was nothing wrong with Johnny Unitas' four-touchdown performance against San Francisco. Rudy Bukich, Gale Sayers and Co. have impressed but a victory here seems to be asking too much.

Cleveland 31, Philadelphia 24—Title this one Jim Brown bounces back. Brown, held to 39 yards by Minnesota last week, doesn't usually have two weeks like that in a row. The Browns, have been ragged but the Eagles don't have much, including a chance to win.

Green Bay 14, Detroit 10—Bart Starr, shaken up last week, physically, by the Bears, will be in the Packer's starting line-up while the Lions have lost top receiver Terry Barr with a sprained right knee. A tight one with the edge to Green Bay.

Minnesota 38, Los Angeles 21—Vikings coming on with the running of Bill Brown and Tommy Mason complementing Fran Tarkenton's passing. Minnesota defense also appears improved. The Rams gain yards but too often fumble it away.

St. Louis 28, Pittsburgh 21—The Cardinals have lost two in a row and the Steelers have won two in a row but the Steelers may be moving up a step in class here. Give Charley Johnson the edge over Bill Nelson.

Washington 24, New York 21—The biggest item in the Redskins' favor may be a thigh injury to Giants' Tucker Frederickson. Sonny Jurgensen seems to be coming on for Washington.

San Francisco 35, Dallas 21—The 49ers may have to go with George Mira instead of John Brodie, who has a slight shoulder separation, but he completed five of seven passes after taking over last week. Cowboys on five-game losing streak.

American League

Buffalo 28, Boston 24—A close one. These arch-rivals always make it a battle but Eastern Division leading Bills have had another week to break in their new receiving corps. The Patriots still haven't been able to find a running attack that would take the load off Babe Parilli.

San Diego 35, Denver 17—Chargers' Paul Lowe, No. 1 in rushing, will show Broncos' Cookie Gilchrist, No. 2 in rushing, how it's done. San Diego should be smarting from its first loss to Boston last week and that usually spells trouble for the opposition.

Houston 28, Oakland 24 — This struggle matches the Oilers' league-leading pass offense vs. the Raiders' league-leading pass defense. Veteran George Blanda, however, will successfully probe the weak spots.

New York 21, Kansas City 14—The Jets have their first win and now they'd like nothing better than to snap their 12-game losing streak on the road. Kansas City could be the place to do it.

Statehouse Finance Methods Being Corrected

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend said Friday "steps are already taken to correct" financial practices criticized by a state auditor's report on Capitol Building Supt. Robert Newell's office.

Townsend said he advised Newell to make changes when the building and ground operations were placed under his department's jurisdiction last Oct. 1.

Previously, Newell has been directly responsible to the governor's office and during the period covered by the audit, March 1, 1964, to June 30, 1965.

Prior To Orders

The audit faults the purchase of $12,566.41 worth of equipment prior to issuance of purchasing orders by the state purchasing agent.

"Requisitions sent to the purchasing agent show 'goods received' and eliminates the asking of competitive bids," the audit stated.

"Vendor's invoices were delivered as long as three or four months before the requisitions were sent to the purchasing agent."

The report was also critical of purchasing totalling $6,406.65 for which no requisitions were made to the purchasing department.

The audit said no bills were made by the Capitol's central telephone system operated by Newell's department to the various state agencies for the months of May and June of this year.

"There were no permanent records maintained to show all billings from the Telephone Company (Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph) and the operational expense charged to various departments," the auditors said, "and no control of accounts receiveable and no reconciliation of fund balances as set up by the 1959 Legislature."

The audit recommended:

—adequate records of all telephone directory purchases.

—Use of receipts pre-numbered by the printer for cash funds.

—double-entry bookkeeping system for the central telephone system.

Further U.S. Tax Cuts Said Risky

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Further federal tax cuts at this time would "run the serious risk of producing outright inflation," the executive vice president of the American Bankers Association warned Friday.

"Such inflation would both weaken our balance of payments position and seriously threaten the sustainability of the economic advance," Dr. Charles E. Walker said.

"This is especially true in view of what may be a sharp increase in federal spending resulting from intensification of our war effort in Viet Nam."

Walker scored congressional proposals to increase the level and coverage of the federal minimum wage act, noting that such action "may complicate further the task of reducing unacceptably high unemployment rates among unskilled workers."

Reductions

In fact, he said, "if we are really serious about reducing hard-core unemployment, we probably should be considering reductions, not increases, in the federal minimum wage for certain occupations and in certain areas."

Young persons entering the labor force could find themselves priced out of the market, he warned.

Walker cautioned that the stability of labor costs is "in clear danger of disruption," and suggested that long-term use of administration wage-price guidelines could threaten the free market economy.

"In my judgment, the solution to the problem of achieving non-inflationary pricing and wage decisions does not lie in providing for government decisions, either directly through legislation or indirectly through persuasion," he said.

Market Balance

"The solution lies in achieving a market balance among bargaining groups which, on the average, but not invariably, will result in non-inflationary wage and price decisions in response to market forces.

Walker outlined economic conditions in an address to concluding sessions of a symposium on "Man's Quest for Security" sponsored by the University of Nebraska and Woodmen Accident and Life Company.

Federal tax cuts undertaken by both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations were successful in assisting the economy, and "the case is still strong for broadly-based tax reduction as economic conditions permit," Walker said.

Now is not the time, he said, in view of "the economy's low margin of unused resources and qualified labor."

Walker questioned whether the administration's goal of reducing unemployment to 4% is attainable "without serious cost and price pressures.

Friday's program also featured Dr. Howard P. Rome, president of the American Psychiatric Association.

Opposition To Wheel Tax Hike Heard In City Hall

Opposition to the proposed wheel tax increase is being heard by officials in City Hall, according to Public Works Director Robert Obering.

The proposal introduced at the last City Council meeting by Councilman D. L. Tyrrell would raise the wheel taxes on passenger cars from $6 to $8 and on commercial trucks of 8 tons or more from $30 to $40. It is becoming a "hot issue," Obering said.

The $135,000 more wheel tax is slated to be used as part of the 10-year street improvement program presented last February which calls for spending some $1.4 million per year on resurfacing, widening and re-paving arterial streets.

The municipal gas tax and increase voted by the Legislature this year and motor vehicle registration fees also are spent on street improvement.

Statehouse Finance Methods Being Corrected

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend said Friday "steps are already taken to correct" financial practices criticized by a state auditor's report on Capitol Building Supt. Robert Newell's office.

Townsend said he advised Newell to make changes when the building and ground operations were placed under his department's jurisdiction last Oct. 1.

Previously, Newell has been directly responsible to the governor's office and during the period covered by the audit, March 1, 1964, to June 30, 1965.

Prior To Orders

The audit faults the purchase of $12,566.41 worth of equipment prior to issuance of purchasing orders by the state purchasing agent.

"Requisitions sent to the purchasing agent show 'goods received' and eliminates the asking of competitive bids," the audit stated.

"Vendor's invoices were delivered as long as three or four months before the requisitions were sent to the purchasing agent."

The report was also critical of purchasing totalling $6,406.65 for which no requisitions were made to the purchasing department.

The audit said no bills were made by the Capitol's central telephone system operated by Newell's department to the various state agencies for the months of May and June of this year.

"There were no permanent records maintained to show all billings from the Telephone Company (Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph) and the operational expense charged to various departments," the auditors said, "and no control of accounts receiveable and no reconciliation of fund balances as set up by the 1959 Legislature."

The audit recommended:

—adequate records of all telephone directory purchases.
—Use of receipts pre-numbered by the printer for cash funds.
—double-entry bookkeeping system for the central telephone system.
—an adjustment account to show telephone billing adjustments or corrections made.

Further U.S. Tax Cuts Said Risky

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Further federal tax cuts at this time would "run the serious risk of producing outright inflation," the executive vice president of the American Bankers Association warned Friday.

"Such inflation would both weaken our balance of payments position and seriously threaten the sustainability of the economic advance," Dr. Charles E. Walker said.

"This is especially true in view of what may be a sharp increase in federal spending resulting from intensification of our war effort in Viet Nam."

Walker scored congressional proposals to increase the level and coverage of the federal minimum wage act, noting that such action "may complicate further the task of reducing unacceptably high unemployment rates among unskilled workers."

Reductions

In fact, he said, "if we are really serious about reducing hard-core unemployment, we probably should be considering reductions, not increases, in the federal minimum wage for certain occupations and in certain areas."

Young persons entering the labor force could find themselves priced out of the market, he warned.

Walker cautioned that the stability of labor costs is "in clear danger of disruption," and suggested that long-term use of administration wage-price guidelines could threaten the free market economy.

"In my judgment, the solution to the problem of achieving non-inflationary pricing and wage decisions does not lie in providing for government decisions, either directly through legislation or indirectly through persuasion," he said.

Market Balance

"The solution lies in achieving a market balance among bargaining groups which, on the average, but not invariably, will result in non-inflationary wage and price decisions in response to market forces.

Walker outlined economic conditions in an address to concluding sessions of a symposium on "Man's Quest for Security" sponsored by the University of Nebraska and Woodmen Accident and Life Company.

Federal tax cuts undertaken by both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations were successful in assisting the economy, and "the case is still strong for broadly-based tax reduction as economic conditions permit," Walker said.

Now is not the time, he said, in view of "the economy's low margin of unused resources and qualified labor."

Walker questioned whether the administration's goal of reducing unemployment to 4% is attainable "without serious cost and price pressures.

Friday's program also featured Dr. Howard P. Rome, president of the American Psychiatric Association.

Opposition To Wheel Tax Hike Heard In City Hall

Opposition to the proposed wheel tax increase is being heard by officials in City Hall, according to Public Works Director Robert Obering.

The proposal introduced at the last City Council meeting by Councilman D. L. Tyrrell would raise the wheel taxes on passenger cars from $6 to $8 and on commercial trucks of 8 tons or more from $30 to $40. It is becoming a "hot issue," Obering said.

The $135,000 more wheel tax is slated to be used as part of the 10-year street improvement program presented last February which calls for spending some $1.4 million per year on resurfacing, widening and re-paving arterial streets.

The municipal gas tax and increase voted by the Legislature this year and motor vehicle registration fees also are spent on street improvement.

Justices To Rule Directly On '65 Voting Rights Act

Washington (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed Friday to rule directly on the constitutionality of the 1965 voting rights act in a move that could clear the way for thousands of Southern Negroes to vote in 1966 primaries.

It granted a request by South Carolina that it settle the validity of the law once and for all by assuming "original jurisdicition" in the case, as provided under the Constitution for disputes between the states and the federal government. The court set next Jan. 17 for oral arguments.

The court action met the Justice Department's desire for a speedy decision.

Several Southern state courts have issued injunctions that effectively strike at the heart of the law—the provision aimed at getting Negroes registered to vote.

The high court rejected a department move to file parallel cases against Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, after South Carolina had acted first. But the court said any other state could join South Carolina in its request.

In Columbia, S.C., State Atty. Gen. Daniel R. McLeod called the court's action "exactly what we wanted."

Justices Hugo L. Black, John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart voted against permitting South Carolina to file its complaint.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach has tried to bypass the long, torturous route of appeals through lower federal courts and get the Supreme Court to rule on the act immediately.

15 Tons Of Top Beef Going To Germany From Omaha

From Press Reports

Washington — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman Friday announced the sale of 30,000 pounds of choice grade beef to West Germany. He said it was the first major sale of high quality U.S. beef ever made to Western Europe.

If the beef is well-received in Germany, he said, "this may represent an important breakthrough in the campaign we have been waging to develop an export market for our better grades of corn-fed beef."

He said most Europeans are accustomed to lean grass-fed beef Consequently, past orders from Europe to U.S. packers have called for medium and low grade beef.

In Omaha, an Armour & Co. official said the shipment, from the company's Omaha plant, was the first ever from Nebraska to Western Germany.

International Packers, Ltd., of Hamburg is the purchaser.

Neil Hall Heads Mortgage Association

Neil Hall of Lincoln was elected president of the Nebraska Mortgage Association at its fall conference in Lincoln Friday.

Other newly elected officers are: William L. Otis of Omaha, first vice president; O. D. Johnson of Lincoln, second vice president; Charles D. Casper of Lincoln, third vice president; George Shrewsbury of Lincoln, secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected for two-year terms are: C. A. Rasmussen of Omaha, John McClean of Omaha, William Siebolt of Lincoln, R. W. Walker Jr. of Omaha. Charles Thorne of Lincoln, Robert Root of maha and M. B. Coffey of Omaha

Outlook Brighter

Dr. Oliver Jones, director of research for the Mortgage Bankers Association of America from Washington, D.C., told the members that the economic outlook for 1966 with respect to housing is "brighter, but not brilliant."

He pointed out that the cost of housing is likely to rise; and consequently, more young couples may set up housekeeping in apartments.

"We have tougher customers to please than their parents were two decades ago, and the second and third time buyers are increasingly more difficult to please because they become more sophisticated," he said.

Not As Much

He encouraged the emphasis on the fact that a house depreciates and people can't necessarily get as much out of a house as they paid for it.

"People live in a house five years and expect to get every penny out of it they put in it, but they buy a car and don't think anything of the $1,500 it may depreciate in one year," he said.

Action Program Seeks Director As Intermediary

Lincoln Action Program (LAP) is looking for an executive-director to handle affairs of the intermediary group between local anti-poverty project proposals and the Office of Economic Opportunity, according to Lincoln Community Council executive director Harold Baker.

The LAP personnel committee has reviewed 11 applications it has on hand and will start interviewing soon, he said.

The community action agency hopes to have its application for approval and federal funds sent to OEO by Nov. 20 and expects approval and accompanying money to pay the staff by Jan. 1.

The personnel committee is looking for college-educated applicants with administrative experience and community organization ability, Baker explained. One of the first responsibilities of LAP's executive director will be to conduct a study of poverty in the area, and it is hoped that the applicants have background in research, he added.

Methodist Design For Curriculum To Be Discussed

Attending from Nebraska will be Mrs. Frankie Young, Kearney; the Rev. Delvin A. Roper, the Rev. Howard W. West, Mrs. Kay Canfield, and Dr. C. Edwin Murphy, all of Lincoln; Richard Taketa, Lexington; Dr. Sidney L. McCaig, McCook; Vivian Hand, Cozad; Mary Kathryn Scott, Scottsbluff; Mrs. Ethel Kueck, North Platte; the Rev. Leroy Bratton, Omaha; the Rev. Walter D. Marshall, Central City, and the Rev. Donald Marsh, Papillion.

India Ups Defense

New Delhi (UPI) — India will modify its fourth five-year plan due to go into effect next April to meet increased defense needs because of tension with Pakistan, a government spokesman said.

WILL IT BE FAMOUS?

It was a long, grueling campaign that Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay made for New York City's top office. A rip appeared in the seam of his suit coat at a news conference Friday. He said that if Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller runs for re-election, he will endorse him but not compaign for him. The rip reminded observers of the hole in the sole of the late Adlai E. Stevenson's shoe during his campaign for president.

Lincoln, NU Officials Agree Best Steps Taken On Fires

Lincoln and University of Nebraska officials Friday reviewed the investigation of trash chute fires at Abel Hall, men's student residence on campus, and agreed all proper steps have now been taken to avoid recurrence of blazes such as that of last Sunday evening when some damage resulted

Participating in the conference at the University were Vice chancellor G. Robert Ross, dean of student affairs; Lincoln Safety Director Emmett Junge; Fire Chief Roscoe Benton; and Captain Eugene Masters, head of the University police.

Junge and Benton both expressed complete satisfaction with the conduct of the investigation by University police and with the University's cooperation.

The investigation has already covered more than a dozen leads, all of which have been checked and some of which still are under study, Ross said

Benton and Edward Bryan, the University's director of housing, will continue with a program of regular planning and review sessions in the interest of keeping maximum fire prevention measures in force at the residence halls.

It was also agreed, Ross said, that a plan to keep trash chutes locked except for regular disposal periods should and will continue in force

Mrs. Elden Hitz Given U.N. Award

A Lincoln woman was honored Friday for her efforts in "promoting understanding of the United Nations"

She was Mrs. Elden Hitz, 2955 So. 12th, who was lauded at the 22nd annual World Community Day at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Lincoln.

Mrs. Hitz, described as active in Lincoln civic affairs, is president of the Lincoln YMCA.

Pronouncement of the annual award to Mrs. Hitz ended the day's activities which saw dedication of sewing kits and children's smocks prepared by United Church Women for families in Latin America.

Plainview Banker Found; 2 Missing

Niobrara (UPI)—A Plainview, Neb., bank executive clung to life on a Missouri River sandbar most of Thursday night after a boating accident, but authorities feared his two fellow fishermen drowned

Mrs. Betty Fox said her husband, Eldon, 41, executive vice president of the Plainview National Bank, emptied the boat's gasoline tank and tied it around his neck to buoy him.

Missing and the object of a massive search by land, river and air Friday were Dr. A. V. Brunke, a Plainview veterinarian, and James Pollock, vice president of the Plainview National and son of Stanton District Court Judge Fay Pollock.

Fox was taken in shock to the Plainview hospital. His wife said he was able to talk with her only briefly.

"We know from his doctor he needs a lot of rest," she said.

Search Area

Members of the Nebraska Highway Patrol, the Knox County sheriff's office, and the Knox County attorney's office were searching the area Friday, using two airplanes and a number of small boats. The site was near where the Missouri and Niobrara join near here.

Mrs. Fox said the full story was still being pieced together.

She said the three friends drove north through Verdigre and Niobrara about 10 a.m. Thursday to the so-called Neligh landing, from which the Fox's 14-foot fiber glass boat was launched.

"We're still not sure if they were in the Niobrara River or the Missouri but I'm sure it was in the Missouri where they found my husband," she said.

The men were attempting to lift the anchor about dusk. She said they pulled on the anchor and the boat swamped, throwing all the men out.

Stayed With Boat

Mrs Fox said her husband stayed with the boat. She said some persons believe that Pollock, a strong swimmer, might have headed for safety, but that he returned to help Brunke.

Mrs. Fox said the boat had life preservers to go around: "I know because I put them there." She speculated the preservers might have slipped off during the swamping.

With the cord of the gasoline tank wound around him, Fox alternately swam and floated down the Missouri until he ran onto a sandbar.

Mrs. Fox said the men's wives began to worry when the men weren't heard from at 10 p m Mrs Brunke called and the women alerted friends and authorities A boatload of rescuers saved Fox about 3 a m

Mrs Fox said doctors placed her husband under heavy sedation. She said precautions were taken to guard against possible pneumonia

Hook: Student Authority Could Ruin Universities

By JOHN DeFRAIN
Star Staff Writer

In some Asian and Latin American countries if the students of a university do not like how the faculty is determining academic and social policies, the students either "quit school, get rid of the teachers, or get rid of the university."

This could happen in the United States, said Dr. Sidney Hook of New York University, if students' authority was placed on an equal footing with the faculty.

Dr. Hook, professor of philosophy and head of the department at NYU's Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, was speaking Friday night at the Unitarian Church of Lincoln on "Academic Freedom and Student Revolution."

Freedom of Choice?

"Does the freedom to learn entail a freedom of choice to what should constitute a student's education? Obviously not. When you go to medical school, the faculty chooses your courses . . . with an eye out for the patients."

He went on to say that the faculty has studied curriculums for years and should be authorities: and since they confer the degrees, they should dictate what the degrees are for.

College life on the social level, Dr. Hook thought, could be determined by the student himself though. He made two provisions to this: student minorities, such as Negroes in the South should be protected by the faculty; and any student activity which threatens the educational missions of the university can be controlled.

Dr. Hook said a protest of the Viet Nam war would not threaten educational missions, but if students blocked a professor from leaving his home this would be intolerable.

"Academic freedom," he said, "is not guaranteed in the Bill of Rights It is the right of qualified investigators to reach any conclusions on the basis of honest inquiry in their specific fields."

The qualified investigators he referred to were educators. But even teachers "can't talk nonsense in the classroom until they've won tenure," he went on.

As long as a man is qualified to teach and speaks of things relevant to his field of study, Dr. Hook felt this man could "talk nonsense, because nonsense sometimes turns out to be true." He then cited the anti-matter and position-motion scientific concepts. Both of these were once considered "nonsense."

Lindsay Asks Johnson's Aid In New York

Johnson City, Tex (AP) — Republican Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay of New York has wired President Johnson he looks forward to working with him and the national administration in solving the city's problems.

Johnson had expressed a similar thought in offering his congratulations to Lindsay after Tuesday's election victory over Democrat Abraham Beame. The President released this telegram from Lindsay:

"Thank you very much for your kind wire of congratulations. I'm deeply grateful for your interest in helping us solve the many complex problems that face New York today. I feel that independent, nonpartisan municipal government offers the best solution for New York's problems and I look forward to working closely with both you and your administration in seeking their solutions. Kindest regards."

Federal Road Beautification Laws Studied

The Legislative Council's study committee on junk yards and dumps Friday reviewed some of the federal beautification legislation affecting highways.

Chairman Richard Lysinger of Ravenna said Nebraska must comply with the federal beautification program or lose 10% of the federal aid money for roads and highways.

Harold Salter, Department of Roads attorney, advised the committee on legislation highlights gleaned from a recent conference in Washington.

Lhsinger said the federal bill will be more fully analized at a future meeting to be scheduled later.

He said representatives of the billboard advertising and salvage yard industries would be invited to the session.

Soviet Life Wants New Subscribers

Washington (UPI) — Russia is trying to win more U.S. readers for its English language magazine, Soviet Life, through an American-style advertising campaign.

Editors this week began mailing promotion letters and cut-rate introductory offers to some 100,000 prospective subscribers.

The monthly picture magazine is prepared in Moscow and edited by Soviet embassy officials in Washington.

State Will Host Safety Leaders

Lincoln will play host to one of the state's top safety meetings when more than 200 safety leaders attend the third annual Accident Prevention Institute at the Nebraska Center Nov. 22-23.

The two-day event will feature talks on a variety of safety subjects by authorities in the fields of industrial small business, traffic, home recreational and farm safety

Keynote speakers will be Marvin B. Travis, director of safety for the Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, and J B. Rames of Lincoln, manager of sales development for Dorsey Laboratories.

Restraining Order Is Asked To Stop Insurance Business

The State Insurance Department reported Friday it has asked the Douglas County District Court to issue a temporary restraining order preventing United Benefit Fire Insurance Co. of Omaha from conducting any business or disposing of property and records.

The department also asked the court for permission to take possession of the firm's property and records and conduct or close the business as the court might order.

The motions were filed by State Insurance Director Frank J. Barrett.

Barrett, in a petition filed with the director court, alleged that the firm has been insolvent since June 30, and "its future transaction of business would be hazardous to its policyholders, creditors, stockholders and-or the public."

Barrett said the company was informed of its impairment on Aug. 5 but failed to correct it within 90 days as required by law.

Barrett said in a prepared statement that the company has informed his department that it ceased to accept new business about a month ago.

He said a temporary restraining order would prevent the company, which writes surety bond, fire, and casualty lines of insurance, including automobile insurance, from writing insurance and paying claims.

2,000 Expected For Restaurant Association Meet

Gerold K. Eulberg of Wayne, president of the Nebraska Restaurant Association, said Friday he expects more than 2,000 persons to attend the fourth annual Nebraska Food and Equipment Show at Pershing Auditorium Sunday and Monday

The Mary Lutz Trophy will be presented to the state's outstanding restaurateur of the year by the president of the National Restaurant Association at a luncheon Monday.

Justices To Rule Directly On '65 Voting Rights Act

Washington (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed Friday to rule directly on the constitutionality of the 1965 voting rights act in a move that could clear the way for thousands of Southern Negroes to vote in 1966 primaries.

It granted a request by South Carolina that it settle the validity of the law once and for all by assuming "original jurisdicition" in the case, as provided under the Constitution for disputes between the states and the federal government. The court set next Jan. 17 for oral arguments.

The court action met the Justice Department's desire for a speedy decision.

Several Southern state courts have issued injunctions that effectively strike at the heart of the law—the provision aimed at getting Negroes registered to vote.

The high court rejected a department move to file parallel cases against Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, after South Carolina had acted first. But the court said any other state could join South Carolina in its request.

In Columbia, S.C., State Atty. Gen. Daniel R. McLeod called the court's action "exactly what we wanted."

Justices Hugo L. Black, John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart voted against permitting South Carolina to file its complaint.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach has tried to bypass the long, torturous route of appeals through lower federal courts and get the Supreme Court to rule on the act immediately.

15 Tons Of Top Beef Going To Germany From Omaha

From Press Reports

Washington — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman Friday announced the sale of 30,000 pounds of choice grade beef to West Germany. He said it was the first major sale of high quality U.S. beef ever made to Western Europe.

If the beef is well-received in Germany, he said, "this may represent an important breakthrough in the campaign we have been waging to develop an export market for our better grades of corn-fed beef."

He said most Europeans are accustomed to lean grass-fed beef. Consequently, past orders from Europe to U.S. packers have called for medium and low grade beef.

In Omaha, an Armour & Co. official said the shipment, from the company's Omaha plant, was the first ever from Nebraska to Western Germany.

International Packers, Ltd., of Hamburg is the purchaser.

Neil Hall Heads Mortgage Association

Neil Hall of Lincoln was elected president of the Nebraska Mortgage Association at its fall conference in Lincoln Friday.

Other newly elected officers are: William L. Otis of Omaha, first vice president; O. D. Johnson of Lincoln, second vice president; Charles D. Casper of Lincoln, third vice president; George Shrewsbury of Lincoln, secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected for two-year terms are: C. A. Rasmussen of Omaha, John McClean of Omaha, William Siebolt of Lincoln, R. W. Walker Jr. of Omaha, Charles Thorne of Lincoln, Robert Root of maha and M. B. Coffey of Omaha.

Outlook Brighter

Dr. Oliver Jones, director of research for the Mortgage Bankers Association of America from Washington, D.C., told the members that the economic outlook for 1966 with respect to housing is "brighter, but not brilliant."

He pointed out that the cost of housing is likely to rise; and consequently, more young couples may set up housekeeping in apartments.

"We have tougher customers to please than their parents were two decades ago, and the second and third time buyers are increasingly more difficult to please because they become more sophisticated," he said.

Not As Much

He encouraged the emphasis on the fact that a house depreciates and people can't necessarily get as much out of a house as they paid for it.

"People live in a house five years and expect to get every penny out of it they put in it, but they buy a car and don't think anything of the $1,500 it may depreciate in one year," he said.

Action Program Seeks Director As Intermediary

Lincoln Action Program (LAP) is looking for an executive-director to handle affairs of the intermediary group between local anti-poverty project proposals and the Office of Economic Opportunity, according to Lincoln Community Council executive director Harold Baker.

The LAP personnel committee has reviewed 11 applications it has on hand and will start interviewing soon, he said.

The community action agency hopes to have its application for approval and federal funds sent to OEO by Nov. 20 and expects approval and accompanying money to pay the staff by Jan. 1.

The personnel committee is looking for college-educated applicants with administrative experience and community organization ability, Baker explained. One of the first responsibilities of LAP's executive director will be to conduct a study of poverty in the area, and it is hoped that the applicants have background in research, he added.

WILL IT BE FAMOUS?

It was a long, grueling campaign that Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay made for New York City's top office. A rip appeared in the seam of his suit coat at a news conference Friday. He said that if Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller runs for re-election, he will endorse him but not compaign for him. The rip reminded observers of the hole in the sole of the late Adlai E. Stevenson's shoe during his campaign for president.

Lincoln, NU Officials Agree Best Steps Taken On Fires

Lincoln and University of Nebraska officials Friday reviewed the investigation of trash chute fires at Abel Hall, men's student residence on campus, and agreed all proper steps have now been taken to avoid recurrence of blazes such as that of last Sunday evening when some damage resulted.

Participating in the conference at the University were Vice chancellor G. Robert Ross, dean of student affairs; Lincoln Safety Director Emmett Junge; Fire Chief Roscoe Benton; and Captain Eugene Masters, head of the University police.

Junge and Benton both expressed complete satisfaction with the conduct of the investigation by University police and with the University's cooperation.

The investigation has already covered more than a dozen leads, all of which have been checked and some of which still are under study, Ross said.

Benton and Edward Bryan, the University's director of housing, will continue with a program of regular planning and review sessions in the interest of keeping maximum fire prevention measures in force at the residence halls.

It was also agreed, Ross said, that a plan to keep trash chutes locked except for regular disposal periods should and will continue in force.

Mrs. Elden Hitz Given U.N. Award

A Lincoln woman was honored Friday for her efforts in "promoting understanding of the United Nations."

She was Mrs. Elden Hitz, 2955 So. 12th, who was lauded at the 22nd annual World Community Day at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Lincoln.

Mrs. Hitz, described as active in Lincoln civic affairs, is president of the Lincoln YMCA.

Pronouncement of the annual award to Mrs. Hitz ended the day's activities which saw dedication of sewing kits and children's smocks prepared by United Church Women for families in Latin America.

Plainview Banker Found; 2 Missing

Niobrara (UPI)—A Plainview, Neb., bank executive clung to life on a Missouri River sandbar most of Thursday night after a boating accident, but authorities feared his two fellow fishermen drowned.

Mrs. Betty Fox said her husband, Eldon, 41, executive vice president of the Plainview National Bank, emptied the boat's gasoline tank and tied it around his neck to buoy him.

Missing and the object of a massive search by land, river and air Friday were Dr. A. V. Brunke, a Plainview veterinarian, and James Pollock, vice president of the Plainview National and son of Stanton District Court Judge Fay Pollock.

Fox was taken in shock to the Plainview hospital. His wife said he was able to talk with her only briefly.

"We know from his doctor he needs a lot of rest," she said.

Search Area

Members of the Nebraska Highway Patrol, the Knox County sheriff's office, and the Knox County attorney's office were searching the area Friday, using two airplanes and a number of small boats. The site was near where the Missouri and Niobrara join near here.

Mrs. Fox said the full story was still being pieced together.

She said the three friends drove north through Verdigre and Niobrara about 10 a.m. Thursday to the so-called Neligh landing, from which the Fox's 14-foot fiber glass boat was launched.

"We're still not sure if they were in the Niobrara River or the Missouri but I'm sure it was in the Missouri where they found my husband," she said.

The men were attempting to lift the anchor about dusk. She said they pulled on the anchor and the boat swamped, throwing all the men out.

Stayed With Boat

Mrs. Fox said her husband stayed with the boat. She said some persons believe that Pollock, a strong swimmer, might have headed for safety, but that he returned to help Brunke.

Mrs. Fox said the boat had life preservers to go around: "I know because I put them there." She speculated the preservers might have slipped off during the swamping.

With the cord of the gasoline tank wound around him, Fox alternately swam and floated down the Missouri until he ran onto a sandbar.

Mrs. Fox said the men's wives began to worry when the men weren't heard from at 10 p.m. Mrs. Brunke called and the women alerted friends and authorities. A boatload of rescuers saved Fox about 3 a.m.

Mrs. Fox said doctors placed her husband under heavy sedation. She said precatuions were taken to guard against possible pneumonia.

Hook: Student Authority Could Ruin Universities

By JOHN DeFRAIN
Star Staff Writer

In some Asian and Latin American countries if the students of a university do not like how the faculty is determining academic and social policies, the students either "quit school, get rid of the teachers, or get rid of the university."

This could happen in the United States, said Dr. Sidney Hook of New York University, if students' authority was placed on an equal footing with the faculty.

Dr. Hook, professor of philosophy and head of the department at NYU's Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, was speaking Friday night at the Unitarian Church of Lincoln on "Academic Freedom and Student Revolution."

Freedom of Choice?

"Does the freedom to learn entail a freedom of choice to what should constitute a student's education? Obviously not. When you go to medical school, the faculty chooses your courses . . . with an eye out for the patients."

He went on to say that the faculty has studied curriculums for years and should be authorities; and since they confer the degrees, they should dictate what the degrees are for.

College life on the social level, Dr. Hook thought, could be determined by the student himself though. He made two provisions to this: student minorities, such as Negroes in the South should be protected by the faculty; and any student activity which threatens the educational missions of the university can be controlled.

Dr. Hook said a protest of the Viet Nam war would not threaten educational missions, but if students blocked a professor from leaving his home this would be intolerable.

"Academic freedom," he said, "is not guaranteed in the Bill of Rights. It is the right of qualified investigators to reach any conclusions on the basis of honest inquiry in their specific fields."

The qualified investigators he referred to were educators. But even teachers "can't talk nonsense in the classroom until they've won tenure," he went on.

As long as a man is qualified to teach and speaks of things relevant to his field of study, Dr. Hook felt this man could "talk nonsense, because nonsense sometimes turns out to be true." He then cited the anti-matter and position-motion scientific concepts. Both of these were once considered "nonsense."

Federal Road Beautification Laws Studied

The Legislative Council's study committee on junk yards and dumps Friday reviewed some of the federal beautification legislation affecting highways.

Chairman Richard Lysinger of Ravenna said Nebraska must comply with the federal beautification program or lose 10% of the federal aid money for roads and highways.

Harold Salter, Department of Roads attorney, advised the committee on legislation highlights gleaned from a recent conference in Washington.

Lhsinger said the federal bill will be more fully analized at a future meeting to be scheduled later.

He said representatives of the billboard advertising and salvage yard industries would be invited to the session.

Soviet Life Wants New Subscribers

Washington (UPI) — Russia is trying to win more U.S. readers for its English language magazine, Soviet Life, through an American-style advertising campaign.

Editors this week began mailing promotion letters and cut-rate introductory offers to some 100,000 prospective subscribers.

The monthly picture magazine is prepared in Moscow and edited by Soviet embassy officials in Washington.

Lindsay Asks Johnson's Aid In New York

Johnson City, Tex. (AP) — Republican Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay of New York has wired President Johnson he looks forward to working with him and the national administration in solving the city's problems.

Johnson had expressed a similar thought in offering his congratulations to Lindsay after Tuesday's election victory over Democrat Abraham Beame. The President released this telegram from Lindsay:

"Thank you very much for your kind wire of congratulations. I'm deeply grateful for your interest in helping us solve the many complex problems that face New York today. I feel that independent, nonpartisan municipal government offers the best solution for New York's problems and I look forward to working closely with both you and your administration in seeking their solutions. Kindest regards."

State Will Host Safety Leaders

Lincoln will play host to one of the state's top safety meetings when more than 200 safety leaders attend the third annual Accident Prevention Institute at the Nebraska Center Nov. 22-23.

The two-day event will feature talks on a variety of safety subjects by authorities in the fields of industrial, small business, traffic, home, recreational and farm safety.

Keynote speakers will be Marvin B. Travis, director of safety for the Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, and J. B. Rames of Lincoln, manager of sales development for Dorsey Laboratories.

Restraining Order Is Asked To Stop Insurance Business

The State Insurance Department reported Friday it has asked the Douglas County District Court to issue a temporary restraining order preventing United Benefit Fire Insurance Co. of Omaha from conducting any business or disposing of property and records.

The department also asked the court for permission to take possession of the firm's property and records and conduct or close the business as the court might order.

The motions were filed by State Insurance Director Frank J. Barrett.

Barrett, in a petition filed with the director court, alleged that the firm has been insolvent since June 30, and "its future transaction of business would be hazardous to its policyholders, creditors, stockholders and-or the public."

Barrett said the company was informed of its impairment on Aug. 5 but failed to correct it within 90 days as required by law.

Barrett said in a prepared statement that the company has informed his department that it ceased to accept new business about a month ago.

He said a temporary restraining order would prevent the company, which writes surety bond, fire, and casualty lines of insurance, including automobile insurance, from writing insurance and paying claims.

2,000 Expected For Restaurant Association Meet

Stocks Dip As Trading Slackens

New York (AP)—The stock market Friday edged off its historic high a bit as trading slackened.

Volume was 7.32 million shares compared with 8.39 million Thursday.

Alcoa, the biggest aluminum producer, announced early in the day that it was going along with some other companies in raising the price of aluminum. Later in the session Aluminum Ltd. and Howe Sound also announced price increases.

The aluminum stocks advanced on the news and the market was slightly higher at the time. But this further hint in inflation did nothing to inspire the rest of the stock list.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a net loss of 2.39 at 959.46.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 at 355.6 with industrials down 1.0, rails up .3 to a new high for the year and utilities off .2.

Of 1,430 issues traded—a broad market—gainers outnumbered losers by the slight margin of 575 to 571. New highs for the year totaled 102 and new lows 27.

General Motors, selling ex-dividend $2.25, was weak in early trading, sinking as low as 105; but it recovered partially to close at 106¼, a net loss of ¼.

The aluminum stocks held only a portion of their best early gains. Alcoa and Aluminum Ltd. were up 1½ each, Reynolds Metals ⅞, Howe Sound ¾ and Kaiser 1⅛.

The broad 500-stock Standard & Poor's Index declined .09 to 92.37.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks declined, five advanced and Sperry Rand was unchanged.

The depressed bowling equipment stocks, American Machine & Foundry and Brunswick, were high among the leaders as traders bought them on the basis of hopes for a rebound in their business. AMF was the most active stock, up ¾ at 20 on 167,600 shares. Brunswick was third most active, up ¾ at 8¾.

The trend was irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

Wheat Advances To Season Peaks

Chicago (AP)—Wheat futures climbed into season-high levels again Friday with advances ranging to a cent a bushel against only light resistance on the Board of Trade.

It was the sixth consecutive day that some deliveries at least had traded at the season peaks. Since the harvest-time lows last summer, the gains have amounted to about 20 cents a bushel with some speculators apparently convinced they will go still higher.

Corn and oats finished steady to slightly firmer, rye easier and soybeans narrowly mixed in only moderately active transactions.

At the close, wheat was ¼-1 cent a bushel higher, December $1.65¾-66, corn unchanged to ½ higher, December $1.14½, oats unchanged to ¼ higher, December 68⅛ cents, rye unchanged to ½ lower, December $1.23½; soybeans ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, November $2.49⅛-49.

Official Election Results Published

That was the count recently published by the clerk of the House, regarded as the official election tally in some quarters. It showed Johnson with [illegible]325,463 Democratic votes and Goldwater with 27,146,969 Republican votes in the Nov. 3, 1964, balloting.

Stocks Dip As Trading Slackens

New York (AP)— The stock market Friday edged off its historic high a bit as trading slackened.

Volume was 7.32 million shares compared with 8.39 million Thursday.

Alcoa, the biggest aluminum producer, announced early in the day that it was going along with some other companies in raising the price of aluminum. Later in the session Aluminum Ltd. and Howe Sound also announced price increases.

The aluminum stocks advanced on the news and the market was slightly higher at the time. But this further hint in inflation did nothing to inspire the rest of the stock list.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a net loss of 2.39 at 959.46.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 at 355.6 with industrials down 1.0, rails up .3 to a new high for the year and utilities off .2.

Of 1,430 issues traded—a broad market—gainers outnumbered losers by the slight margin of 575 to 571. New highs for the year totaled 102 and new lows 27.

General Motors, selling ex-dividend $2.25, was weak in early trading, sinking as low as 105; but it recovered partially to close at 106¼, a net loss of ¼.

The aluminum stocks held only a portion of their best early gains. Alcoa and Aluminum Ltd. were up ½ each, Reynolds Metals ⅞, Howe Sound ¼ and Kaiser 1⅛.

The broad 500-stock Standard & Poor's index declined .09 to 92.37.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks declined, five advanced and Sperry Rand was unchanged.

The depressed bowling equipment stocks, American Machine & Foundry and Brunswick, were high among the leaders as traders bought them on the basis of hopes for a rebound in their business. AMF was the most active stock, up ¾ at 20 on 167,600 shares. Brunswick was third most active, up ¼ at 8¾.

The trend was irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

Wheat Advances To Season Peaks

Chicago (AP)—Wheat futures climbed into season-high levels again Friday with advances ranging to a cent a bushel against only light resistance on the Board of Trade.

It was the sixth consecutive day that some deliveries at least had traded at the season peaks. Since the harvest-time lows last summer, the gains have amounted to about 20 cents a bushel with some speculators apparently convinced they will go still higher.

Corn and oats finished steady to slightly firmer, rye easier and soybeans narrowly mixed in only moderately active transactions.

At the close, wheat was ⅛-1 cent a bushel higher, December $1.65¾-66; corn unchanged to ½ higher, December $1.14½; oats unchanged to ¼ higher, December 68⅛ cents; rye unchanged to ½ lower, December $1.23½; soybeans ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, November $2.49⅛-49.

NASON ON EDUCATION:

Responsibility For Success, Failure At College Rests With Student

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

So you're in college! How are you getting along? Fine? That's great!—Not so good? That's bad! Either way it's your own doing.

In the admissions officer's opinion, you are capable of doing college work. If you are not succeeding you must be studying ineffectively. Find, and try, different approaches. Avoid crises if possible but, if they occur, meet them intelligently.

To maintain college success you must give it your attention from the very first day until the last. Keep alert! Occasionally ask yourself how well you are doing. Do this on your own initiative without waiting for crises.

Counseling services are available and professors maintain office hours, but too often students fail to make use of either.

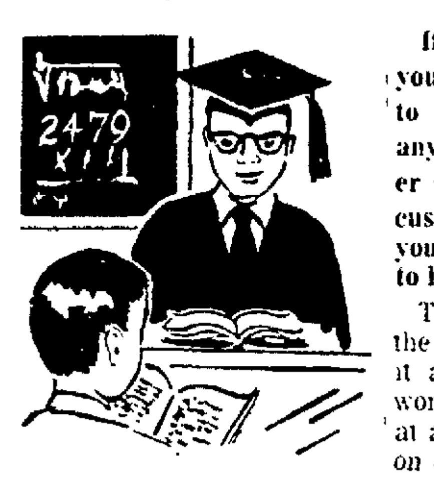
First Crisis

The first crisis for many college freshmen is produced by the work load

College is different than high school. You will be expected to do more work as the teachers seem to do less work. You will be in class fewer hours and expected to do more work independently.

This is the downfall of many freshmen They attempt to solve the problem by working longer hours and sleeping less They can continue this for a few days or even for a few weeks, but finally discouragement sets in and they decide to leave and go home. If you are working too hard, you are not putting your efforts in the right place. For example. 75 per cent of what you learn should be absorbed in the classroom. Here, efficiency will pay big dividends in time saved.

An excellent test of your efficiency in learning is how well you comprehend what you hear in class. If your studying has kept your background sufficiently up to date you should be able to follow the presentation of your professor. If following your instructor seems difficult, change your procedure of preparing for listening.



Difficult Material

If you are required to take a general course (called "Man and Civilization" in some colleges), take enough time to thoroughly prepare for the lectures. This is difficult material to keep organized and requires more preparation time. Prepare a written outline of each chapter ahead of the lecture. Do this throughout the semester, using the short sentence-type outline. The outline can serve as a skeleton for your class notes and leave your mind free for listening.

If after studying ahead on your own you are still unable to follow your instructor in any course, get help. Another student or a tutor can discuss the advance work with you and put you in a position to learn as you listen.

To master a subject from the very first day and carry it at an A level takes less work than dragging it along at a C level. Keep a firm hold on each course through quick reviews. Every few days precede your study session for a course by asking yourself, "What has this course covered so far and where does it go from here?"

Organization

A clear idea of the organization of any course is essential to effective study in and out of class. Through this process the new materials your learn fit naturally into place.

Don't panic at the first low grade you receive. Perhaps you would have received an A on this paper in high school but this is college. The instructor was not wrong in his grading; you just didn't understand the requirements. Your cue now is to find out not only what was wrong with your paper but what kind of a production receives a higher grade.

The primary source of information in this case is the instructor. Listen intently in class as the papers are returned. Talk to a student or two whose papers received a higher grade. Perhaps they can enlighten you. If necessary confer with the instructor. A counselor or an upper classman may be willing to work with you until you have acquired the desired skill

The first college tests shock many students. The tests covered more ground than the short unit tests of high school days. They placed a greater emphasis on the ability to formulate and express ideas. The students often had been in large classes conducted on the lecture system. In such classes they felt safe — they knew they would not be called upon. They had seen no reason to spend time formulating ideas. The books and instructors expressed them clearly.

So, beware!! Come examination time you will be tested on your own ability to organize and express ideas. This you must develop yourself.

Emergency Measures

Meet severe crises with emergency measures. Even though you failed a mid-semester test all is not lost.

The problem you now face is twofold. First, you must get the course straightened out in your own mind; and, second, you must convince your instructor that this has been accomplished.

The following steps have proved successful for many college students.

First, restudy the course from the beginning. Establish evidence of this study by constructing a new notebook consisting of problem solutions, outlines, sketches or other notes. Then make an appointment with your instructor and take along the new notebook. As him for clarification of any points on which there is some question. Ask him what else you can do to clarify the subject and bring your work up to standard.

If you follow the suggestions and give college your best effort you will find that the deans, counselors and the faculty are all on your side, working to help you make a success of college and stay in.
